

Wage Increase for City Employees

Wilson Presents Peace Treaty to Senate

City Council Adopts Budget of $78,100 to Provide 15 Per Cent Increases

All City Employees, With Exception of Department Heads and Water and School Department Employees, Included—Will Increase 1919 Tax Rate 80 Cents Per Thousand—Morey School Project Virtually Abandoned

A general increase of 15 per cent for all municipal employees with the exception of the heads of departments and members of the school and water departments was provided for by the municipal council at its meeting this morning when it appropriated $78,100 for the purpose and then instructed the assessors to raise that amount in 1919 taxation. The raises will be retroactive to July 1. The increases will mean an addition of about 50 cents to this year's tax rate and $1.80 next year.

The supplementary budget submitted by Commissioner Donnelly of the finance department included only enough for wage increases and did not take in various orders submitted by several departments for additional appropriations for running expenses. These will be considered separately as distinct orders at a later time.

A second high light of this morning's meeting was the virtual decision to abandon the Morey school annex project for the present, at least, when it was found that in order to cut the original estimates $18,000, the building would have to be devoid of practically every convenience and many essentials.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10.10 with all members present. Mayor Thompson read a communication.

LIQUOR LICENSES

Local Liquor Dealers Make Application For Licenses

That the Lowell liquor dealers expect to open for business for the sale of 2.75 per cent beer at an early date was proven to a certain degree today when it was announced at the office of the license commission that up to noon 16 applications had been filed for 1st, 2d and 4th class liquor licenses under the old law which, when granted, will empower the dealers to sell 2 3/4 per cent beer subject to federal regulations. The license commission stands willing to grant these licenses, the commission stated, providing the licensee complies with the regulations regarding the taking out of such license.

The commission believes that it has no authority to grant renewals or extensions to liquor licenses operative prior to July 1 and, therefore, will take no action on the application for renewals of liquor licenses which are being made at the office. The commission will, however, allow the applications to be made, and will hold them in abeyance in the event of the prohibition law being lifted, at which time they are again effective.

The minimum fees necessary to the taking out of the new licenses under the old law, chapter 109, are as follows: 1st class, $1000; 2d class, $250; 4th class, $300. A first class liquor license empowers its owner to sell liquor of all kinds to be drunk on the premises, and the second class license allows the selling of malt beverages and light wine of not more than 15 per cent alcohol. The fourth class license allows the selling of liquors of any degree of alcohol, but not to be drunk on the premises.

In discussing the present status of liquor licenses the commission stated that the new applications for liquor licenses would be granted, providing the licensee complies with the regulations, which call for the licensee to be advertised for 10 days prior to being granted, and the payment of the license fee. These licenses will be operative until the close of the license year.

subject to federal regulations. The licensee will not be entitled to any protection from federal prosecution, and, like his brother liquor dealers in Boston and other cities where liquor men have opened up under the new licenses, will be taking a chance of court procedure by the federal government.

Will Take Samples Asked what the attitude of the police would be in the event of the dealers opening up for business after the granting of their applications, Supt. Welch said that samples would be taken and an analysis made, after which a report of the analysis would be forwarded to the office of the U. S. attorney. No arrests would be made unless ordered by the United States attorney, he said.

In connection with the enforcement of the prohibition law in the event of the local liquor men opening for business at the present time Supt. Welch this morning received the following communication from the office of the United States attorney's office:

July 9, 1919.
Mr. Redmond Welch, Chief of Police,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: I am enclosing herewith copies of the circulars issued by the attorney general of the United States to various United States attorneys. You will note that the attorney general requests the co-operation of various police officials throughout the country in detecting violations of the federal law respecting the sale of distilled spirits, beer, wine, or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors. I would appreciate it if you will have some members of your force take samples of beer in the various places in Lowell where beer is sold and also in the brewery. Have these samples analyzed and send the reports to me. If you find evidence of the sale of distilled spirits or wines I should appreciate it if you will report the same to me forthwith.

LOUIS G. GOLDBERG,
Assistant United States Attorney.

U. S. EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Experienced structural steel workers are needed in the city. Examiner Cronin of the United States employment bureau stated today, and there are several positions open in this line at the present time. Preference will be given to ex-service men, he said. The examiner also has positions open out of town for all kinds of labor, male and female.

N. E. BASEBALL LEAGUE

This Is Not an Obituary, But the Undertaker Is Just 'Round the Corner

Chaos reigns in the ranks of the N. E. New England baseball league and Bolshevik propaganda has so far undermined the supports of the organization as to threaten its very existence. The trouble which has been brewing (and trouble is about the only thing which is being brewed these days), came to a head in Lewiston this week when the former owners pulled stakes and left the club in that city without a guiding hand or pocket-book.

President Donnelly of Lowell, who was in Portland, covered the 25 miles to Lewiston in record time and attempted to bind up the wounds. He succeeded in as far as continuing the scheduled games during the week, but now comes the announcement that unless the necessary backing and patronage be forthcoming in Lewiston before Sunday the league will drop Lowell and Lawrence, distribute the players of these two clubs among the other four in the circuit and continue the league with Portland, Lewiston, Fitchburg and Haverhill as members.

A conference between Lewiston players and President Donnelly was held last night and the plan developed would strengthen the Lewiston team through the acquisition of Clark, Weaver and Rossie, while Fitchburg would draw on the remaining Lowell players and the Lawrence club, the league head continued to Last Page

President Declares League of Nations Practical Necessity in Urging Ratification

Senate Galleries Rock With Cheers as President Appears For Epochal Session—Fact Covenant of League Was First Substantial Part of Treaty Agreed Upon Made Rest Easier—Explains Scope and Purpose of Treaty

WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Wilson in presenting the peace treaty with Germany to the senate today declared that "a League of Free Nations had become a practical necessity," to which the framers of the treaty felt obliged to turn "as an indispensable instrumentality for the maintenance of the new order it has been their purpose to set up in the world."

The "most skeptical" of the peace conferees at Paris, the president said had turned more and more to the league as discussion progressed in seeking solution of the problems that arose in framing the terms of the treaty itself.

Covenant First Agreed Upon

"The fact that the covenant of the league was the first substantive part of the treaty to be worked out and agreed upon while all else was in solution," the president said "helped to make the formulation of the rest easier."

He said the agreement on the covenant had given the conferees a feeling that their work was to be permanent and that the most practical among them "were at last the most ready to refer to the League of Nations the superintendence of all in this which did not admit of immediate determination of all administrative problems which were to require a continuing oversight."

"What had seemed a counsel of perfection," he said, "had come to seem a plain counsel of necessity. The League of Nations was the practical statesman's hope of success in many of the most difficult things he was attempting."

Crowded Galleries Cheer

When the president entered the senate chamber, escorted by a committee of senators, the crowded galleries rose and cheered for a minute in disregard of the senate rules. The president, mounting to the vice president's seat, spoke briefly with Vice President Marshall as the cheering continued, punctuated with "rebel" yells.

Pres. Wilson Confers With News Writers—Gratified At Quick Ratification of Treaty by Germany

WASHINGTON, JULY 10.—President Wilson, conferring with newspaper correspondents at the White House today, indicated that he was extremely gratified that the treaty of peace had been ratified so promptly by the German National assembly.

He also indicated that he felt trade relations between Germany and the associated nations should be resumed at the earliest moment possible, for without trade Germany could not meet the reparations demanded of her.

The president thinks that troops should be maintained in Germany until the Germans have complied with all the military terms of the treaty. It was pointed out that there were several million veteran soldiers in Germany and munitions sufficient for them to operate.

The Germans have from one to four months in which to deliver all material.

Precedents Shattered as President Wilson Presents The Peace Treaty to Senate in Open Session

WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Wilson will take the peace treaty to the senate today, and at an epochal session will explain his reasons for asking ratification without change or reservation.

The covenant of the League of Nations, against which is centered one of the bitterest fights in senate history, is expected to hold the president's major attention during his long address. But he is expected to touch also upon many other significant features of the negotiations of Versailles.

Precedents Shattered The far-reaching proposals of the league covenant, praised on the one hand as signaling a new era of world brotherhood, and condemned on the other as marking the end of nationalism, will be submitted in appropriate setting at a session annulling many precedents of senate procedure. It will

BUILDING MORE GARAGES THAN HOUSES HERE

Lowell this year is building more garages than any other kind of structure. Data on file at the office of the building department at city hall where building permits are issued, shows that for the first six months of 1919, ending June 30, the number of permits for garages to be erected was 93. Number for corresponding period last year was 46.

Few of the so-called "commercial garages"—garages where repair work and auto livery is maintained, are being built this year. The city seems to be pretty well supplied with them. Under the heading of garages it is found that mostly garages at residences are the ones being built. Generally the home owner builds a garage large enough for two cars, although he never expects to wish to support more than one car at a time. But his idea, a thrifty one, is to have space enough for two cars so that he may rent car space in his garage for six or seven dollars a month and get enough to help him buy gasoline or tires, or help pay for the garage.

Officials at city hall, when asked their ideas as to why the number of garages for which permits have been issued is double what it was last year, say they have no particular theory on the matter except that there is a lot of money among wage earners and others living in this community, and these people are going ahead and indulging themselves in the comfort and luxury of owning their own car and not necessarily a cheap car in all instances at that. There is no doubt, say these officials, but that a lot of money earned for the past three years in the munition works is finding its way to the treasuries of the motor companies doing business in the middle west. Asked if they believed the boom in carfare on the Bay State had anything to do with the scramble to build your own garage and own your own car, one man in the building department said he was not inclined to think so because the data on file shows people were starting to equip themselves with automobiles before the three cent raise in carfare took effect.

TO CONCLUDE PEACE AT ONCE

Italian Premier Says Negotiations Will Be Rushed—To Lower Prices

Government Intends To Maintain Order With Firmness—Troops Called

ROME, Wednesday, July 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The Italian government intends to maintain order with firmness and without hesitation or weakness, according to Francesco Nitti, the premier, speaking before parliament today. He said it was planned to hasten negotiations so that peace could be concluded at once, with the upholding of Italian national aspirations.

Rapid transportation is to be made from a war to a peace footing and what was rendered necessary by the conflict and has become superfluous, and indeed, harmful, in peace, will be abolished.

The bitter condition of the people will be alleviated by the government, which is aiming to lower prices without which, he said, "it is impossible to guarantee social peace."

The chamber of labor has issued a manifesto saying that, having received guarantees that the prices of goods will be reduced 50 per cent it invites the people to return to work.

GENERAL STRIKE TROOPS CALLED

ROME, July 10.—Stringent measures have been adopted to meet the possible development of the general strike. The entire police garrison is held in readiness and strong contingents of troops occupy the principal points in the city, the government buildings and the banks, while armored cars and machine gun crews patrol the different quarters.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

It has been said that there is now hardly a city, town or village in this country wherein some woman does not reside who has found health in that good, old-fashioned remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore, if you are suffering from some ailment, and hardly know what to do for it, and have tried other remedies without help, ask your neighbor if she has ever used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If she herself has never had the need for it, undoubtedly she knows others who were just in your condition and who have been restored to health by its use.—Adv.

Premier Nitti remained until the early morning at the ministry of the interior, to be certain that his instructions were carried out. The proclamation of a general strike coincides with the reopening of parliament yesterday afternoon.

During the morning mobs attacked several shops, because the shopkeepers refused to sell at low prices; otherwise there were no serious complications. The chamber of labor has proclaimed a general strike as from midnight Tuesday, as a sign of protest against the police and military measures adopted by the government to prevent further disorders. The chamber of labor maintains that these measures were adopted to prevent the lowering of the price of necessities, as demanded by the people.

During this morning the strike was not quite general, because only the Popolo Romano published last night the decision of the chamber of labor to call a strike.

The food shops were crammed with people today buying provisions in the fear of being caught with scanty supplies.

The Popolo Romano, commenting on the situation, says that as Taranto is still in the war zone the maintenance of order in the city has been entrusted to soldiers, who have proclaimed a state of siege. Immediately thereafter, the newspaper declares, the riots ceased as if by magic. It asserts that if the same action had been taken everywhere all the disorders would have been over by now.

Premier Nitti in a speech before parliament today urged that the peace negotiations be concluded and that friendly relations with the allies, especially France, be maintained.

The premier informed the deputies that all efforts should be made to re-establish the country on a peace footing, lower the prices of necessities and bring about orderly conditions throughout Italy.

Going to Adriatic

PARIS, Wednesday, July 9.—Major General Charles F. Summerall and other members of the commission appointed to investigate the trouble between allied troops and Italians at Fiume, will confer with the supreme council of the peace conference tomorrow, and will leave immediately afterward for the Adriatic.

James Shaffer of Uniontown, Penn. struck a foreigner who made disparaging remarks and was fined $10, but the money was paid by ten members of the local Christian church, who on their way home happened to stop in the "burgess" office. Each of the men plunked $1 down on the desk of the official and the case was ended.

MOVIE HERO SUN WRITER

Bill Hart, Screen Champion, in Series of Heart to Heart Talks With Lowell Boys

BY BILL HART, Noted Movie Hero, Who is Writing a Series of Articles for Boys

American boys!—You are the most ambitious boys in the whole world. Ambition is your middle name. Be sure your ambition is laudable—then fasten your teeth in it and hang on like a bulldog. If your ambition isn't laudable it is a false idea. Drop it like you would a hot potato because it's like a bad horse—it is liable to go over backwards without warning. And when it does it hurts. Unfortunately, some boys get off on the wrong foot. But remember, it is never too late to start over again.

Ambition is not conceit. The greatest men in the world have been the most ambitious. Otherwise, they would never have become leaders of men. I wouldn't give two bits for a boy who didn't have ambition to spare.

You may be ambitious and not get anywhere near the goal of success. You must have initiative. In the west where I was raised a boy had to have enough sense to get it alone. Make yourself self-reliant. Then when you get into a tight place you will know how to get out. In other words: Act first and talk afterwards.

Every real American ought to aspire to be the best in the game whether it's playing baseball, working at a trade, busting broncos, or—fighting Huns. Boys, don't be lazy. Ambition and initiative are made of sterner stuff. With these qualifications you can gain success. (Signed) BILL HART.

NO SUGAR SHORTAGE

War Department To Sell 21,000,000 Pounds to American Public

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The sale of 21,000,000 pounds of surplus sugar now held by the war department has been authorized, it was announced at a minimum price to be fixed by the United States sugar equalization board to cover the cost to the government. The only condition of sale will be that none of this stock may be exported. Investigation having shown that the principal shortage at present is in states east of the Mississippi, efforts will be made to find purchasers in that section. The stocks comprise 14,000,000 pounds in storage at New Orleans and 7,000,000 pounds at San Francisco.

"The export market afforded a higher figure than the war department will realize through this method of marketing," the announcement said. "Of-

Praises Tonic That Restored Her to Health

Rhode Island Woman Says Confidence in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Was Justified

A tonic that strengthens, that revives the appetite, brings color to the cheeks and revitalizes the nerves is what many tired women need to restore them to the normal condition of activity and attractiveness. Mrs. Beatrice Stott, of No. 34 Watson street, Central Falls, R. I., relates her experience with such a tonic as follows:

"I had a severe attack of pleurisy that left me in a terribly run-down condition. My blood was thin, I was pale, my appetite was poor and I had but little strength. I had severe pains in my side and my rest was broken at times from nervousness. I tried different preparations but the medicines did not seem to help me.

"I had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when I lived in England and finally decided to give them a trial. After the first box I was much better and I noticed an improvement in my appetite. I continued to use the pills and they gave me more strength. I used three boxes altogether and the results were so satisfactory that I have recommended the pills to others. I have faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and am glad to say a word of praise for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

fers of 10 cents per pound have been made for the entire surplus by exporters, but the secretary of war, realizing that a shortage of sugar existed in the United States during the coming season, desired that the American public be given the benefit of the surplus."

AMERICANS MUST HAVE JOBS FIRST, GOMPERS

NEW YORK, July 10.—Opposition of the American Federation of Labor to unrestricted immigration during the next four years is based largely on a desire to checkmate "a combination of corporations, trusts and shipping companies" to bring immigrants to the United States under contracts which made them virtually "slaves to these trusts." Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, declared in an address before the Pan-American Federation of Labor here last night.

Mr. Gompers' address was in response to a resolution adopted at the day session, inquiring why the federation had taken a stand on immigration at its Atlantic City convention "which conflicts with the conclusions of the first congress of the Pan-American Federation of Labor held at Laredo, Tex."

The second reason, Mr. Gompers asserted, was the fact that four million American soldiers were being returned to industry and that the federation's duty was "to go adjust our affairs that the Americans shall have the right to a job before anyone who may come here from another country."

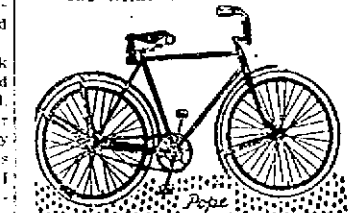

"Discussing the alleged 'combination,'" Mr. Gompers said:

"The contracts which these industrial trusts and corporations had with those people were of such a character that the people were for years slaves to these trusts. Persons who observed vessels coming into this country could see the immigrants, with nothing more than a little box, herded into trains and taken to factories, stockyards, steel plants and other industrial establishments.

"To such a pass did that situation come that the trust magnates would advertise in American newspapers and papers of other countries that they wanted men, but did not want American workers."

Mr. Gompers asserted that the federation had been trying for years to organize workers in the packing and iron and steel industries, but had met little success, because "there men had been kept in bondage and have been allowed only their own language newspapers, which taught them they should hate the American labor movement and not join it."

Mr. Gompers added that a period of non-immigration would materially aid America's campaign to Americanize all her inhabitants.

"This is a critical time, a crucial time, a time unprecedented on the globe," Mr. Gompers continued. "and it simply means we must protect ourselves or be overwhelmed. The standards we have raised for America's workers are not going to give up to the greed and rapacity of employers, nor are we going to have them undermined by overwhelming numbers of immigrants. When this critical period is past, America can again become the home of those who voluntarily come to make homes and to live according to our standards. We will extend the hand of welcome to those who come in that spirit."

Thin People Need Bitro-Phosphate

Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances

Take plain bitro-phosphate is the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation. It warrants the recommendation. Moreover, it we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by A. W. Dows in Lowell and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by sup-

Georgia Hamilton, the wonderful "mole" girl, who was once thin and frail, says: "Bitro-Phosphate brought about the magic transformation, gained 25 pounds and never before felt so well."

plying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Clinical tests made in St. Catherine's hospital, N. Y. C., showed that two patients gained weight 23 and 27 pounds, respectively, through the administration of organic phosphate; both patients claim they have not felt as strong and well for the past twelve years.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

Physicians and hospitals everywhere are now recognizing its merits by its use in ever increasing quantities. Frederick Kille, M.D., editor of New York Physicians "The Who," says: "Bitro-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital to increase strength and nerve force and to enrich the blood."

Joseph D. Harrison, Former Visiting Specialist to North Eastern Dispensary, says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anemic, or run-down, take a natural, unadulterated substance such as bitro-phosphate and soon will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance."

Bitro-Phosphate is made entirely of the organic phosphate compound referred to in the National Standard Dispensary as being an excellent tonic and nerve and a preparation which has recently acquired considerable reputation in the treatment of neurasthenia. The standard of excellence, strength and purity of its substance is beyond question, for every Bitro-Phosphate tablet is manufactured in strict accordance with the U. S. Pharmacopoeia test requirements. Bitro-Phosphate is therefore not a patent medicine and should not be confused with any of the secret nostrums, so-called tonics or widely advertised "cure-alls."

CAUTION.—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Adv.

Serathol Is Fine For Indigestion

Says Dr. Parrish

Since the publication of Dr. Edward Parrish's recommendation of ordinary Serathol for indigestion, gas, acidity and dyspepsia, it has won instant favor with scores of dyspeptics all over the country. When you have that "dis lump in the stomach" feeling or belching gas or bad breath from an upset stomach, just take a little ordinary Serathol, wait one minute by the watch and you'll probably say what others have said: "Serathol works like magic." At any rate it is perfectly harmless. Serathol to take and can be obtained at trifling cost from A. W. Dows in Lowell and all first class druggists.—Adv.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Street Car Jumps Track on Overhead Bridge—Motor-man Acts Promptly

Three men had a narrow escape from death or serious injury when an outward bound Wigganville street car jumped the track while running over the overhead bridge at Boylston and Caster streets, at 8:15 o'clock last evening, crashing the fence to the left of the bridge and bringing up with the forward part of the car overhanging a 20-foot drop. The cause of the derailment is unknown. Railroad officials said today that had the car gone a bare six inches farther nothing could have saved it from toppling over.

The car was running at a slow rate of speed when the accident occurred and the motorman, Thomas Murphy, made a remarkable stop, as the brakes were rendered almost useless when the car jumped the track. There was one passenger on the car at the time. The conductor on the car was Sam Parlee. The wrecking crew was called out, but were unable to raise the car until well after midnight.

SEIZE WINES AND BEER AT NANTASKET

BOSTON, July 10.—Raided by agents of the department of justice on the hitherto immune oasis at Nantasket, and the discovery that seized wines and beers on analysis showed an alcoholic content in some cases as high as 4 per cent, marked an active day in the fight between the local federal authorities and the liquor interests on the prohibition issue.

Nantasket dealers, who were gleeful Tuesday when Boston's reopening drew them out of the calcium's glare, may be haled into court as soon as the beers and wines secured by the raiding department of justice agents are analyzed, Assistant United States District Attorney Lewis E. Goldberg said last night.

BIG INCREASE IN STATE TAX APPORTIONMENT

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 10.—A loud protest is likely to be made by legislators from the industrial centers of the state when they learn how hard their respective municipalities have been hit in the new apportionment of the state tax, which is to be effective for the next three years.

Under the new apportionment practically every industrial city or town is required to pay a much larger share of the state tax, while nearly every community which has been known as a "tax dodgers' paradise" will pay a greatly reduced share.

For example, of each $1000 of the state tax Fall River will be obliged to pay $26.54, instead of $22.62 as in the past three years; New Bedford, $27.55 instead of $23.31; Lawrence, $18.32 instead of $16.82; Worcester, $44.40 instead of $38.62; Lowell, $21.32 instead of $18.99; North Adams, $3.91 instead of $3.54; Haverhill, $10.70 instead of $9.56; Brockton, $13.55 instead of $12.58; and others in smaller amounts. Pittsfield alone of the industrial centers shows a slight decrease, from $8.66 to $8.61.

While the act establishing the new basis of apportionment has not actually been passed as yet, it seems improbable that it can be defeated, an existing law specifically provides how it shall be made up, and the law has been carefully followed in the new bill.

It presents, however, an extremely anomalous situation. When the income tax was being discussed several years ago, prior to its passage, it was contended that certain cities and towns had extremely low tax rates because of the ownership, within their borders, of large amounts of stocks and bonds, and one of the arguments for the income tax was that it would tend to equalize tax rates. Now, however, it appears that these same cities and towns are to get a lower rate on the state tax because they have lost the right to tax these same stocks and bonds. As it was expressed today, they had a low local rate because they had these large blocks of intangible property to tax, and now they get a lower state rate because they have lost the right to tax them.

As a matter of fact, however, the tax is worked out in an entirely logical manner. In years gone by most of the richer cities and towns taxed only a portion of their intangible property, and while they succeeded in getting a low local tax rate, the tax commissioner did not accept their valuation figures for making up the state tax, but based it upon what he believed to be their proper valuation. The effect of this was to make the state tax rate for such cities and towns out of proportion to the local rate. Now that the intangibles are taxed directly by the state, the state tax is based upon the valuations fixed by local assessors, and naturally the places where valuations are relatively low obtain an advantage.

The figures for cities and towns in the vicinity of Lowell are as follows:

	Old Basis	New Basis
Bedford	$ 0.41	$ 0.30
Billerica	1.00	1.33
Chelmsford	1.01	1.33
Dracut	.56	.60
Lowell	18.99	21.32
Tewksbury	.10	.14
Tyngsborough	.18	.24
Westford	.59	.73

Some of the "lucky" municipalities, with big decreases in their apportionments, are:

Falmouth, from $3.09 to $1.37; Orleans, from $1.62 to $1.17; Easton, from $2.12 to $1.82; Hamilton, from $1.39 to $1.00; Manchester, from $2.07 to $1.22; Nahant, from $1.55 to $1.00; Weston, from $1.93 to $1.00; Brookline, from $30.30 to $17.56; Dovor, from $1.62 to $1.00; Milton, from $6.38 to $3.74; Welleisley, from $3.55 to $2.97; Marston, from $1.33 to $1.00; and Hopedale, from $2.10 to $1.10.

JOHNSON CONTINUES ATTACK ON LEAGUE

PORTLAND, Me., July 10.—United States Senator Hiram Johnson, speaking at city hall last night in opposition to the League of Nations covenant, declared that the league is written around the one central idea that the democracy of the United States shall guarantee and preserve the boundaries of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

"American fathers and mothers want peace," said the senator, "and they want a League of Nations which will make life worth living."

You cannot be constipated and happy at the same time. If almost everything you eat distresses you, and brings on a headache, gas on the stomach, heartburn, etc., you can easily eliminate these conditions by taking SEVEN BARKS, the favorite root and herb remedy for stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS will expel the distressing acids, and dangerous poisons, and help you back to good digestion and active health, making life worth living again.

Do you sleep well or are you troubled with almost sleepless nights? While there are many causes for sleeplessness, it generally happens that deranged stomach, liver or intestines are the real cause of the trouble. If your appetite is not good, or food distresses you, or the bowels do not move daily, you can get quick relief from these disagreeable conditions by simply taking 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals; this is nature's remedy, made from the extracts of root and herbs, has stood the test of nearly 50 years, and will certainly give you a feeling of new life.

If you would have the glow of health, and banish the blues, don't neglect to ask your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. Costs but 50 cents.—Adv.

give them peace. Ask any American mother in Kansas or Illinois or California if she is for peace. She will say 'Yes' with all her heart. Ask her if she is willing that her son and her grandsons shall go to the Balkans, to China, to Korea, to Siberia, to Arabia, to the Dalmatian coast, to Poland, to compel peace. She will answer just as promptly 'No'.

"This League of Nations, with the men who really wrote it, was meant to obtain peace insofar as peace maintained forever inviolate their territories and their subject peoples; and it was meant that this kind of peace should be obtained by the exercise of the power and the force of the United States."

Devoting himself for a time to the demands of those champions of the proposed league covenant who he said have been clamoring for constructive criticisms, the senator asserted that if the authors of the document had honestly intended self-determination of peoples, if they had really been interested in preventing war rather than safeguarding territorial gains, they would have instituted through the League of Nations a referendum vote of the people on all declarations of war in every nation on earth.

Senator Johnson asserted that it was unthinkable that any American wrote article 16, or that any American could subscribe to it. He described the amendment to the league covenant alleged to be designed to safeguard the Monroe doctrine as "A fraud, a delusion and a snare."

A Missouri farmer says that if a soy bean or two is dropped into each hill of potatoes when they are planted the potato bug will not bother them, and besides your crop of potatoes you will not one of beans as well.

BILLERICA NEWS

At a recent meeting of the board of selectmen of the town of Billerica it was voted to prepare a detailed and complete report of the welcome home celebration for the soldiers and sailors held recently in the town and the following committee was appointed to gather up the data and have it printed in pamphlet form: Dr. A. Warren Stearns, Everett S. Bull and Thomas P. Sheridan.

In the course of the meeting the legacy left to the town some time ago under the terms of the will of the late Caroline Haynes Jenkins to erect a drinking fountain in memory of her parents, was officially received and turned over to the treasurer. The gift amounts to $1000. Martin McMahon, John J. Forbes, James H. Sheridan and Robert O'Connell were appointed special officers.

NORTH BILLERICA

At a recent meeting of the members of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society of North Billerica, the following officers were inducted into office for the ensuing term: President, John F. Trainor; vice president, Charles Lyons; recording secretary, Charles McNulty; financial secretary, James Condon; treasurer, Arthur L. Mahoney; marshal, B. W. Kearney; literary committee, F. J. McNulty, Owen Flynn, John J. Lyons; board of examiners, Thomas Higgins, Richard Condon and Joseph Collins.

Five thousand chickens from the poultry farm of U. R. Fisher, near Hope, have practically put an end to army worms in Bartholomew, Ind. When the worms appeared in multitudes, Mr. Fisher turned his chickens on them, and they ate the worms as fast as they arrived. Thus far, they seem to thrive on the fare.

PNEUMATIC TUBES WAR SHIP MESSENGERS

Many incidents of the world war as it unfolded to take in all of the civilized world and grew in magnitude and frightfulness reflected back upon this city and that and upon one industry and another as the need for additional fighting implements became more acute. The huge war machines of the opposing nations were still in an immature stage when the armistice came to eventually bring peace and Lowell may well claim a helping part in this development of modern warfare.

It is common knowledge the part the United States Cartridge Co. took in the waging of the conflict at home and abroad, but there is another chapter in Lowell's book of war which has not been written.

On May 31, 1918, the most important naval battle of the war took place on the high seas off Jutland between the British and German grand fleets and, although Germany prematurely claimed a victory and celebrated in schoolboy fashion, its fleet retired to port and never again ventured out to challenge. As Jellicoe and Beatty maneuvered their battle cruisers in the darkening mists of the North sea, America learned one of its many war time lessons and the finger of fate again pointed to far off Lowell.

In the Jutland battle it was conclusively proven that written messages conveyed to their destinations on board the destroyers through pneumatic tubes were the only ones which were infallible. The telephone between engine room and bridge went out of action and the speaking tube was rendered useless in the din, but the pneumatic tube carried the incisive orders without a hitch and once and for all time won a place in the sun.

America heard and learned her lesson well, and almost immediately thereafter the Lamson Co. of Lowell received an order from the United States government to experiment upon a small type of pneumatic tube for use on our own destroyers. This is the result: Today practically every destroyer in the United States navy is equipped with a Lamson pneumatic tube, running from engine room to bridge. The experiments terminated when a 1 1/2 inch tube was developed and pronounced good by Washington. Installation followed.

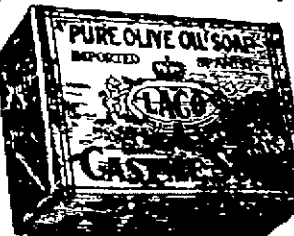

This is the smallest tube manufactured by the Lamson Co., but the sizes run up to three and four inches for battleship communication uses and even larger for the pneumatic lifting of large rifle ammunition from magazine to gun breech. The ammunition lifter is still another story. The Lamson Co. has installed these pneumatic hoists on the battle cruisers Massachusetts and New Jersey. The tube on the Massachusetts is eight inches in diameter and those on the New Jersey, eight and ten inches. The shell and powder load are put into the tube in the magazine and air shoots them to the gun breech just as easily as your office carrier travels through the tube which leads to the shipping room.

On the U. S. S. Massachusetts, the vertical lift from magazine to gun turret is 34 feet, yet each load of an eight-inch shell weighing 62 pounds and two bags of powder, each weighing 24 pounds, is whisked up to the gun crew in two and one-half seconds, before the waiting hands of the crew. The 110-pound "carrier" is deposited almost instantaneously after being slipped into the tube in the magazine, and yet with all this speed in travel it comes to a stop without a jar. As the load leaves the tube and loses the impelling force of the compression, friction in the remaining few feet slows it down to a nicety, and stops it where desired.

Before America's official entry into the war the Lamson Company had installed gravity conveyors in arsenals loading plants and quartermaster supply houses. This gravity conveyor is one of the most successful of the more recent Lamson inventions and has saved the government thousands of dollars and thousands of minutes. It is built of steel rolls, ball bearing at each end, and the entire system is set up on a slight incline. In 25 or 50 feet the incline is so gradual as to almost defy perception, but in a longer system the drop is more noticeable. The steel rolls are concave in shape to conform to different sizes of shells, varying from three to 12 inches and spin steadily on the least rotating touch. Practically all of the big arsenals and loading plants in the country used these conveyors for the rapid transportation of shells throughout the buildings, the Gillespie Loading Co. of New Jersey, whose plant was wrecked by an explosion, being one in which they were universally used.

John E. Chandler of Dighton, who is 75 years old, has made an express wagon, including the wheels and every bit of woodwork, without help, excepting that George H. Brown of Westville, blacksmith, did all the ironwork. In making the wagon Mr. Chandler used nearly every kind of wood.

IRISH HOME RULE IS AGAIN SUSPENDED

DUBLIN, July 10.—The proposed inquiry into the possibilities of federalism for the whole United Kingdom, it is believed here in well informed circles, will be furthered by the government. It is said that such an inquiry would furnish a breathing spell during which the act suspending the Irish home rule bill would be further extended.

Two proposals looking to the examination in parliament of federalism or something akin to it, have been made recently. The house of commons on June 4, after a debate of two days, adopted a resolution favoring the appointment of a parliamentary committee to examine and report upon the creation of subordinate legislatures. A second suggestion, along this line, was made on July 4 in the house of commons by Maj. Waldorf Astor who announced that a committee would be set up to make a full inquiry into the whole problem of legislative evolution in the United Kingdom.

The Irish home rule act, passed May 25, 1914, never became effective. It was put on the statute books but it was suspended during the war by an act adopted Sept. 16.

BUYS 40,000,000 YARDS OF AIRPLANE LINEN

LONDON. (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Leonard J. Martin, a young English business man who deals in agricultural machinery, has bought for $20,000,000 from the British government about forty million yards of linen which was intended for making airplanes. He knew nothing about linen, but bought for speculation.

Martin is 37 years old and began his career, he says, with a capital of about $500.

The stock of material Martin now controls represents three years' normal supply. He is reckoning on a profit of about $5,000,000. Of that amount $2,000,000 would go to the British treasury in excess profits and another $1,250,000 in super tax.

The name of the steamship Afel, launched at Hog Island, is the code word for the American Federation of Labor, in honor of which the vessel was christened.

Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trademark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has been manufactured continuously for over thirty years."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Bringing Up Baby.

When Adam ate the Apple we heard nothing about its effect on his stomach, but we do know, or ought to know, about the effect of all eatables given our children. This knowledge is necessary to all mothers, and the deaths among infants indicate that much information along this line is needed.

On this subject many works have been published, but most of them so technical and complicated as to be unintelligible to the lay mind. Food, hygiene and proper clothing must be learned by all mothers—they must study them, know them. Do you?

Around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria is a booklet in plain, everyday language that all can understand, put there by the advice and approval of physicians. Will you read it?

Fletcher's Castoria has been in use so many years that it is a waste of words to praise it, but because of the many substitutes and imitations we endeavor to protect the babies by keeping before the public the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and a copy of the wrapper. It is your only safeguard.

CEMETERY HELP ASK 35 PER CENT RAISE

Employees of the public cemeteries, department who now receive from $3 to $3.50 per day petitioned the cemetery commission at its meeting last yesterday afternoon for a general increase of 35 per cent. The commission took no action on the matter. The matter of securing additional land for public cemetery purposes was discussed at length with several sites mentioned, one of them being 17 acres belonging to E. A. Bartlett, contiguous to the Westlawn cemetery and the other a piece of land beyond Third avenue about 50 by 600 feet. It was finally voted to have Chairman Rigby confer with the mayor on the proposition. Mrs. Margaret K. Reardon, for the past 12 years a clerk in the cemetery department, offered her resignation to accept a position as teacher in the local schools. The resignation was accepted.

The Call'em

Pat Moran, boss of the Cincinnati Reds, takes a most contented view of his home. Just before leaving for his home in Cincinnati yesterday for a flying visit after the game in Boston, Pat was asked "how things are in the home." He said "they are all right." He had nothing to say about the "home" of the Cincinnati Reds, but he did say "they are all right." They are a cracker-jack bunch of players and that is all I have to say about baseball.

The Man Who Found Him

Before leaving the scene of his triumph last Saturday night to go forth and win the fortune which awaits him as heavyweight champion of the world, Jack Dempsey forgot the player of popular acclaim and took occasion to visit his old friend, the coach, who had covered him and started him upon the road to success. This man is A. J. Aberbach of Salt Lake City, who long ago taught him in a hall of gymnasium in the city of Salt Lake City. Jack handed over to him a check for $100,000, the money necessary to keep him going. Jack handed over to him a check for $100,000, the money necessary to keep him going. Jack handed over to him a check for $100,000, the money necessary to keep him going.

Bonus May Return

Pat Moran has sent a letter to Hans Wagner inviting the Flying Dutchman to join the Cincinnati club in the role of advisory coach and right-hand man. As yet the former Pittsburgh star has not replied to the offer, but his thousands of friends and admirers would like nothing better than to see him once more strutting around the parks of the senior league.

Pretty Rough For Quakers

Judging from the echoes of strife coming from the fair of the Philadelphia Nationals it will be some time before Cactus Gravy will be able to mold the straying particles into baseball machine. Pres. Baker of the Phillies yesterday slapped heavy fines on three of the men for alleged boisterousness in the dressing room. The president in changing managers. Gene Packard was assessed $200. Pitcher Woodcock was assessed $100. Pitcher Cady $100, plus a 10 days' notice of release.

The Penalty

Lowell looks to be in a very fair way of losing its baseball club and indifference upon the part of the city people is the only cause. No man can reasonably be expected to stand a loss of several thousands of dollars just to give a few persons the enjoyment of "sitting in" at the games and yet that is just what Mr. Conway and Mr. Roach have been doing since the start of the season. Such philanthropy is nothing but wastefulness.

FOUR BOUTS AT THE CRESCENT A.A. TONIGHT

Tonight the Crescent A.A. will stage a boxing entertainment free to all members of the organization and a big attendance is expected. The card is one that looks like action from the opening going until the final sound of the bell. There will be four bouts, two ten-round events, an eight-round quarter and a preliminary of six rounds.

Johnny Morris of Boston and Jack Vigeant of Charlestown, both former members of the Y.M.C.A. division, will fight for the welterweight championship of that famous outfit over there, will appear in one of the ten-round numbers. In their former meeting Morris got the decision and the title but ever since that time Vigeant has been anxious to get a return match, and he feels confident of reversing the result.

In the other ten-round event Billy Woods of Manchester and Whirlwind Veto will meet. Eddie Barrell of Quincy and Tony Vatin, the Brighton "Iron Man" will clash in the eight-round number and Young Moran of Lowell and Young Rodlick of Cambridge will entertain in the first bout of the evening. Just show your membership card.

K. OF C. TEAM TO START SATURDAY

The newly organized K. of C. baseball team will open its season on Saturday, July 13, with some strong local team. Manager Coniglia has arranged to play the strongest teams in the state and a series has been arranged for the Knights of Columbus championship of New England with the Marquette council of Boston. Arlington K. of C. Bedford and other strong teams will appear later. The strongest local teams who want games should also get in touch with Mr. Coniglia at the K. of C. rooms. A very attractive score card will be given free at all local games played by the Knights of Columbus.

"RENT STRIKE" THREATENED

PAWTUCKET, July 10.—Charging that some of the landlords have taken advantage of the rise in the tax rate to unreasonably raise rents, a committee from the Central Trades and Labor union is investigating. ## FASTEST MILES OF THE

SEASON YESTERDAY

CLEVELAND, July 10.—The fastest miles of the season, both trotting and pacing, were stepped at the Grand Circuit races at North Randall yesterday. The way the outsiders came through and upset the done caused more than a ripple of excitement.

The real feature was the great comeback staged by Brescia, a mare considered out of the racing game last fall when she was sold at public auction to Wilbur J. Myers of Springfield, O. The talent played Mary Coburn and Petrix, while Brescia was included in the field that brought only $50 in tickets calling for $75.

Brescia didn't look good in the first mile. Allie Lou, the main contender, pulled Mary Coburn 10 feet from the wire and eased home a winner by a wire and eased home a winner by a nose in a flash, which made her the fastest trotter of the season, the time being 2:04 1/2.

Next to Brescia's victory, the show-up made by Goldie Todd was the outstanding feature. Making her initial start, she not only paced a winning race, but became the fastest pacing performer of the year, doing miles in 2:07 1/2. She also gave Pop Tiers his first chance to appear as a race winning driver.

CARUSO'S WINE AND ## AUTO COMMANDEERED

FLORENCE, Monday, July 8 (By the Associated Press).—Enrico Caruso, the famous opera tenor, lost 20 barrels of wine when it was commandeered by the work committees at his villa in the outskirts of Florence during the recent disorders here. He said today that the committee left him just enough to last until the new vintage was ready. He added that the members of the committees were quite polite in presenting their demands.

"This morning the prefect telephoned me," he said, "that my automobile had been requisitioned. My villa is most difficult to reach because it is situated on a steep hill and I have no other means of transportation. I am lost without my automobile."

WHAT CONGRESSMEN

THINK OF THEMSELVES

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The congressional directory, in which senators and representatives record their own biographies, was issued today. Most of the law makers are lawyers, but members include an iron moulder, banker, stock raiser, tree surgeon, physician, cheese manufacturer, glass blower, baggage-master, "a business man" and "a political accident."

Several trace their lineage back to members of the continental congress. One says he brought the first automobiles into this country from Europe and another that he is president of a press clipping bureau. One recites his collegiate achievements and admits getting into congress after his

"characteristic determination" carried him through an untiring campaign.

One member "was raised on a dairy farm;" another lives "on a gravel road;" and another "entered public schools at an early age."

COST DIME TO RIDE ON L

Fares Boosted in Boston—

Will Continue For Three Months—May Go Higher

BOSTON, July 10.—Ten-cent fares on the Boston Elevated railway became effective today. This rate will continue three months, after which the public trustees of the road will determine by the patronage whether the fares should be increased or decreased.

The new rate results from a decision of the trustees made in accordance with special legislative acts, which stipulate that, provided the fare charged proves inadequate to meet expenses, it shall be increased. The trustees recently announced that operation of the road on an eight-cent basis for six months resulted in a loss of $1,519,371.

REDS SUPPORT SALLE

Cincinnati gave Salle brilliant support yesterday and the Reds made it two out of three thus far in the series by winning, 3 to 1. A pass to Bressler in the fifth, Wingo's triple and a wild throw by Dierker McQuilken gave Cincinnati two runs, the winning margin. Groh fielded sensationally.

Pittsburgh shut out Brooklyn yesterday, 2 to 0. Babe Adams allowed only six hits and was in danger only once, in the seventh inning, when Griffith Miller singled with one out. Konechny, however, popped to Mollwitz and Mitchell, batting for Kilguff, fanned.

Four New York pitchers were battered hard by St. Louis yesterday, the Cardinals winning, 12 to 5. Thirty-two players took part in the game, while Miller, Paulette and Snyder were chased by Umpire Harrison for protesting decisions. The Phillies broke their long losing streak by taking the second game of the double-header with Chicago.

BLACKBURNE SOLD ## TO THE PHILLIES

Russell Blackburne, utility infielder of the Boston Red Sox, was yesterday sold to the Philadelphia club. Pres. Grant announced that it was an out-and-out sale for a cash consideration. Blackburne is a pretty good ball player, but the Boston management thought Rawlings would be of more value to the club as a utility man than Blackburne.

The latter has all along wanted to be with some club on which he would have some chance of playing every day. Blackburne is a pretty good ball player, but the Boston management thought Rawlings would be of more value to the club as a utility man than Blackburne.

PEKING, July 2 (By the Associated Press).—Uncertainty, mixed with anxious apprehension, exists in Peking. Indeed throughout China, as to whether the Chinese delegates actually signed the peace treaty at Versailles. A wireless message from Lyons reports that the Chinese delegates absented themselves from the signing ceremony; otherwise no advice respecting this matter have reached Peking.

Originally the government had instructed the delegates to sign the treaty, but at the same time left them discretionary powers. On Thursday last (June 28), however, instructions were sent to the delegates not to sign, unless with reservation on Tsing Tau. Prior to these instructions so many telegraphic appeals reached the president that he felt it a matter of national unanimity that if the treaty were signed by China a situation would be created which would constitute a constant source of irritation.

The Chinese government is declining to sign, only makes reservation. It is announced, with respect to Tsing Tau. The government accepts everything else. China, it is added, desires to make full reparation to Japan in the repayment of moneys advanced on secret contracts but China does not feel justified in definitely signing away rights in Shantung, which by the operation of international law, have accrued to China since August, 1917.

China feels that it is not safe internationally, but especially with regard to Japan, that such a situation should arise in Shantung as would keep open the wound like Alsace-Lorraine.

The Chinese delegates, it is further announced, will sign the treaty with Austria, to which the League of Nations convention is attached, thereby becoming a member of the league. The government sets forth that China is not intimidated by hostility to Japan, but by the necessity of keeping China intact.

Whether the government's instructions reached Paris before the signing of the treaty by the allies.

The Versailles peace treaty between the allied and associated powers and Germany was not signed by China. The places at the table for the Chinese delegates were vacant at the signature ceremony.

ADVERTISING DRINKS

There is probably never was a time when so good a chance existed to exploit and boost the lowly and drink business, in Lowell, as there is now.

The most useful aid to extending this business in which there is admittedly so much profit, is of course advertising. The tonic business generally admits that one of its chief assets is having an attractive name for the drink and a good name, assuming that the quality and flavor are right, is to have prospective patrons become acquainted with the drink through sampling it. They must know the name of it before they can call for it at the soda fountain. The first step, then, is to have the name of the drink advertised in the most effective way possible, and its name to the public is by advertising it in

BUSINESS VS. POLITICS

Judging from the various campaign utterances of republican leaders, it appears that they have no intention of giving serious thought to the work of reconstruction before next year, when the national campaign will absorb the attention of the people.

The republicans are now in control of congress and although they bitterly criticised the democratic administration, their empty policies are much more open to criticism than have been those of their opponents. They have not as yet taken any action towards restoring the railroads to the private owners and perfecting a system of control that will give the country a satisfactory service at a reasonable cost. Indeed, it would appear that the republicans are designedly evading this question for political reasons.

It appears also that they have not taken any practical steps towards putting our new merchant marine into active operation. If they would adopt some practical business policy to aid the industries of the country in getting back to normal conditions, they would thereby offer something for the merchant marine to do and might thus enable the manufacturers of the country to meet the demand from abroad not only for raw material, but for manufactured products.

Thus far, the republicans in congress have done little more than keep up a sort of guerrilla warfare against the administration and against the ratification of the League of Nations, for the reason that it is largely the work of President Wilson.

The republicans will soon find themselves discredited if they continue to devote practically all their time to politics instead of to business. The nation demands relief from the lack of employment and from the excessively high cost of living. Thus far, there has been no attempt made by republicans to offer aid or relief in either direction. Should this course be pursued for another year by the party in control of congress, the result will certainly be very serious. We are confident, however, that President Wilson will endeavor to have congress drop the vain and futile bickerings of politics and turn its attention to the vital issues of the hour.

HUSH!

Hush! Don't say a word! Listen to the terrible things that Congressman Graham brings to light against the administration and more particularly against President Wilson himself. Just think of it, the president organized a "Council of National Defense" which planned all the war measures before war was declared. The council laid out the work for congress. Ye gods and little fishes, has it come to this that the president of the United States should so far forget himself as to plan ahead for the safety of the nation?

Why, what did he not go to the G.O.P. leaders for light and leading—to Lodge and Borah and Penrose? There's political capital for you! Just the thing the leaders have been hunting for during several months to the neglect of the nation's business, the railroad problems and the merchant marine.

In their lack of political issues, the republicans charge the council of national defense, authorized by congress, with conducting a secret government of the United States.

It is now in order to drop the Reconstruction charge of unpreparedness and launch the other and more serious charge of preparing for war when there was no war and even outliving every measure afterwards adopted by congress!

Now then, let the muckrakers get busy and let up this new discovery that President Wilson seriously, anxiously, but intelligently fore-planned the campaign that won the war even before war was declared! It is so unusual to find a constructive statesman at work in the United States that this particular "offense" must be held up to public condemnation by the republican inquisitors as a gross violation of the conventionalities and particularly of the customs established by the ephemeral politicians of the republican party.

Drive home the charge against Wilson as a violation of law. Something must be devised to snipe his reputation in the eyes of the American people, so as to help get the hungry army of G.O.P. politicians back into power.

Bravo, Mr. Graham!

GETTING THE BIG HEAD

Hatters throughout the country report a shortage in their stocks of large size hats and a surplus of small sizes. Their orders for the spring and summer trade were based on the accepted proportion of sizes but somehow, they say, the small sizes do not sell in the way they should and the large sizes sell as hot cakes are supposed to sell.

They have studied the situation and are at a loss for a satisfactory explanation. Men who generally wear a seven now find a 7-18 necessary, and the former 7-18 men must have a 7-18 stretched or take a 7-14. As for the 7-14 men, they cannot be comfortable with anything less than a 7-38.

If the change in the size of men's heads was confined to soldiers, hatters say, they would be inclined to believe victory or life in the open had made the cranium of the doughboy swell a bit, but it is the same with many civilians.

Not only that, but in London the hatters have had the same experience as the Americans. There, if anything, the demand for larger sizes has been more pronounced than here.

If you ask a Frenchman to explain any latter day phenomena he will answer, "C'est la guerre."

So far, no reports in regard to the size of hats have come from the German hatters. "C'est la guerre."

THE PRESIDENT'S RETURN

It is noticeable from the picture of President Wilson on landing at Hoboken, that he did not wear his customary smile. The president realizes that although he has had busy times in Europe, he has still to go through a period of strenuous effort in convincing the people that it is for the best interests of this country and of humanity to ratify the peace treaty, including the League of Nations.

In his speech at Carnegie hall in New York, the president expressed the belief that the peace is a just one and that if it can be preserved, it will save the world from bloodshed and future wars. He seems to be assured that the American people will rally to the support of the treaty and the covenant with such enthusiasm as will result in ratification by the senate. On this point he will find strong opposition from the republican party, although many leading republicans are in favor of ratifying the treaty without change.

We are to have a campaign of education in regard to the treaty and in this President Wilson will undoubtedly stand as the leading authority. Whether he will be able to secure the ratification of the treaty forthwith remains to be seen.

EATING MORE BEEF

The department of agriculture advises the people to eat more meat, stating that there is now no need of the conservation that was practised during the war. That would be welcome news to most people if the prices in so very many cases did not still offer an obstacle to the free use of meat. It should be remembered by the department that the high prices that rule the meat market continue to make conservation in the use of beef and other meat products almost as great as during the war. The government has on hand millions of cans of meat put up for the use of the army. It has offered to sell these by the carload to municipalities which, however, are not free to engage in such enterprises. The government can easily find a means of distributing this supply of canned beef to cities where it would prove highly beneficial in checking the extortion practised by the profiteers. It is not too much to expect that the federal officials shall distribute this meat so as to be obtainable by the people at a moderate cost. If the government should do so, at least some portion of the people might then be able to carry out the advice of the department of agriculture to use beef more liberally.

TIPPERARY

Apparently that London despatch telling of the alleged rebellious conditions in Tipperary, Ireland, may be taken with a very large pinch of salt, considering the fact that the government (British) authorities in Ireland are trying hard to justify their position and to counteract the statements published in this country by Messrs. Ryan, Dunne and Walsh, the Irish-American envoys to Paris. The government, in defense of its action in putting the Sinn Fein of Tipperary under the ban, alleges that a seditious circular was found upon a prisoner last February, decreeing death to obnoxious police officers. It is rather strange that this should be brought up in proof of the claim that present conditions in Tipperary are very bad. Yet, still more of this propaganda stuff may be expected from London, the aim being to turn American sentiment against the cause of Ireland.

Time was when pater familias after supper would say to the home circle in general, "Well, I think I'll go for a car ride and a smoke." Times change and importantly the price of little comforts. It costs a dime for his post supper car ride, and the cigar makers promise that the dime cigar hereafter is to cost 15 cents if the men now on strike win.

Lieut. Commander Lansdowne, U.S.N., a guest dier on the R-34, says he finds it is the habit of the weather to travel from west to east. There are some kinds of weather we would be glad to have travel from west to east just as fast as atmospheric conditions will permit.

Latest report has it that the Prince of Wales is not to visit Newport and be lionized. Perhaps he has been tipped off that those pretty American nurses with whom he danced do not usually spend their holidays at the "rich women's paradise."

"Put Fighting Blood Into Your Business," says a government poster exhorting employers to give returned service men a job, but it doesn't authorize the service man to fight his boss or his boss to fight him.

Most of us will conclude that Argentina, in voting unreservedly to enter the League of Nations, plays safe now as she did by her neutrality during the war.

Copper has advanced so that it sells at 20 cents per pound, but a pound of copper cents buys one-half less than a few years ago.

It is serious business now either to catch cold or to be bitten by a rattlesnake. Also for a lady to faint away.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The new timetable which went into effect on the Boston & Maine road the first of the month is meeting with quite general approval by travelers between Lowell and Boston, according to comment I have heard about town. Two excellent express trains in the afternoon from this city to Boston, arrive within 20 minutes of each other, are features especially applauded locally. One leaves at 4 p. m. and arrives in the Hub 45 minutes later. At 4:20 another leaves and reaches Boston at 5:05. Up to within a week or so there used to be an express at 4:30 and an accommodation at 4:17. The latter now leaves Lowell at 4:12. There is another express at 5:28 and another accommodation train at 5:38 so the city's late afternoon travel is fairly well taken care of. The only thing that can be asked now is that the express trains be on time. Several days have already been noted. I'm told.

There is no more jovial fellow in my mind than a certain conductor on one of the local car lines who, despite the use of the so-much-talked-about bookie register, is always happy. He may not like to handle the "gun," but he does not show it, for recently while riding on his car I heard him shout, "I got instead of the regular fare, please." The following language: "Get your dimes ready, please. Try your luck, ring the bell. It will only cost you ten cents and you are sure to win, for Old Bill City State is the winner every time. Do not become your time, for you are giving it for a good cause. You're next, skip the dime in the slot and see how long you can ring the bell, I'll do the shooting and Big Bill will do the spending. All aboard."

Only one other city in the commonwealth, Boston, at the present time has a larger number of mothers receiving financial aid under the provisions of the "mothers' pension" law, than is the case today in Lowell. This is published on the authority and statement of Martin H. Conley, superintendent of Lowell's municipal charities. At the present time Lowell has the honor and gratification of keeping no less a number than 170 mothers from seeking shelter and sustenance at the city's almshouse. Not only is this true but this number of mothers are being given the means to keep their little children with them and save them from the stigma of being inmates of an almshouse. Martin Conley, the hospital superintendent, says 170 is very nearly, if not quite, a record number for Lowell since the mothers' pension law went into effect some years ago. He credits this unprecedented number of dependent mothers to the terrible ravages of the flu last fall and winter. Thousands of citizens here have probably failed to recognize how much misfortune in the shape of taking away the bread winner of scores of Lowell families, this disease was responsible for. There are a few scattering cases of men abandoning their wives and children but such cases are increasingly rare. With as much good business prevailing and plenty of work, men seem to be sticking by their families. It seems that Worcester and Cambridge come next to Lowell in the number of mothers being cared for under this law. Whether the disease claimed more poor fathers in this city than anywhere else in the state may be a conjecture, but the figures as given by Mr. Conley seem to warrant this belief.

Under the provisions of the Mothers' Pension law a mother must be a woman of good character and capable of taking care of her home in a clean and efficient manner, to be eligible for the weekly payments. She must not possess more than $200 on money nor more than a $500 equity in a piece of real estate. She may not buy any real estate while receiving payments under this law from the state. Supt. Conley, as executive head of the city's charities, has charge of disbursing these weekly payments to dependent mothers. He is the initial step that will be taken

Who Won the War?

That momentous question has been settled. Field Marshal Haig yesterday declared the British army won the war. We know a few, however, who will disagree with him.

Cool in Washington
Mrs. Katie May Baker, Washington, D. C., has filed suit for divorce alleging that while living with her husband they had not spoken to or heard from each other for five years. They have been married 15 years, and according to Mrs. Baker their matrimonial venture was divided into five-year periods, the first, "warm and loving"; the second, "cool with periodic quarrels"; and the third, "cold and mum."

Lest His Job

John Barleycorn cost me a good position on an Alabama daily round about the year 1911. I was assigned to cover a reception staged for the boss' wife. This at 3 p. m. The reception was at 8. It was in the nature of a homecoming for Mrs. Boss. She was to deliver a woman's talk that she had given in Houston, Dallas, and other cities. Having plenty of time to spare, I visited with other co-workers at a beer-whiskey-poker session. We finished at 10:30. I bestirred myself, obtained old files of pre-arrangements for the event, and wrote the story. I was complimented highly by the city editor. But next afternoon he declined to insert my story. The publisher's wife had a connection and failed to arrive. To read what she had said the evening before, what she wore, who introduced her, and the names of those of the elite present, all on page one under a 26-point head, column one, was pretty good. I got my check—promptly.—A. D. Manning, the Butler, Pa. Citizen.

Pastor Panned On

A clergyman while passing through a street in Edinburgh came upon a rough-looking and gigantic catman who was persuaing his horse to move along more expeditiously. The horse had taken a stubborn fit, and the clergyman was very excited and coughing his sentiments in language which was simply appalling.

The clergyman was a little man, but rash, for he rebuked the catman in a manner that left absolutely nothing to be desired.

"I cannot understand," he said, in winding up his expostulation, "what you mean by using such harrowing expressions."

The rebuke was lost upon the catman. "My wee man," he replied, at the same time patting the clergyman on the shoulder with a very dirty hand, "neither could I understand it when I was your size."

There was on rejoinder, and the clergyman passed on.

LOWELL IS ALL RIGHT

But Visitor Interviewed by Reporter Had Some Suggestions To Offer

Did you ever wonder what the folks from the towns and villages near Lowell think of our city? What it is they like about us and what things they don't really approve of?

Of course we know that the little old Spindle City is just about the nicest burg from Boston to Frisco, and we're always willing to tell the world so, too. But what do they think? Do they believe, as we do, that Lowell has been rightly named "The City of Opportunity," or do they think our city is in need of improvement?

We thought about this today—you know, even reporters think occasionally—and as we were groping through our alleged think tank for the answer along came a man from—well, never mind the name of the town. It's a nice little village within 20 miles of the city, and its residents have been noted for their powers of observation for years and years.

And so we put it directly up to the Old Timer. And he obligingly clucked to old Dobbin, lighted his pipe and told us what was what.

"It's a fine city in some ways," said he. "Then again, in some ways it isn't. I always enjoy looking at the window displays in the stores. They remind me of the time I went down to Boston. I had a great time looking in the store windows there. Didn't spend much money, you understand but I had a good time. Got to hand it to the Lowell storekeepers, they're up and coming all the time. If you ask me, these Boston folks have nothing on you."

"Then there's that funny little gun they have on the trolley cars here. That always tickles me. You put in a dime and they snap it right away from you. Queer how they do it, isn't it?"

"I like to watch the constable at this place you call Merrimack square. Traffic cops, I guess they call 'em. I should think they'd get so dizzy trying to straighten out all those people, horses, autos and street cars they wouldn't be able to stand up. But they don't. Funny, ain't it?"

"Then there's that big pile of iron lying in a field off Kirk street. They do say that that will be a high school some day. But I don't know. Looks kind of dubious to me."

"You have lots of canals in this city. Some of them run right under the floors of the buildings. I'd hate to live in a place over a canal. What if the floors broke through? And I can't swim, either."

"Went up to your city hall today. That is, I went up near it. I guess the mayor wasn't in. Couldn't hear him talking, anyway. Nice man, the mayor. He's got a nice voice. I took a look at that bust of Cardinal O'Connell near the city hall. Why don't they tear down all the old buildings there and make the place more attractive. That would be a good stunt seems to me. Make things more up-to-date, and a heap sight prettier."

"I went up to the new Community Service club on Dutton street today. Mighty fine place, too. Seems funny, though, to see men smoking and playing pool and billiards in a church. I wonder what some of the old timers would think of it if they knew. But

Refined people the world over use this best known dentrifice—

It's a mighty fine place. Lowell ought to be proud of it—and her boys who went away to finish up the Kaiser too.

"I got held up for over a quarter of an hour at the railroad crossing on my way to town today. Lots of people got held up. Why don't they get rid of these grade crossings? They don't have any back home."

"Noticed that they're fixing up the bridge over Thorndike street today. They tell me they built all the cement piers underneath while people kept walking right over it. What do you think about that? Just turned the cement through small holes cut in the bridge. Pretty cute, I think."

"Always remember the first time I came to Lowell. Wanted to get to the depot, and the man at the square said to take a car marked Westford street. Well, after I'd rode quite a spell I thought I'd ask the conductor if we were nearly there. He told me we were over a mile beyond it. Rode back looking for the depot and the conductor says, 'All right, mister, here you are. There's the depot down there in the hole.'"

"Speaking of the depot reminds me of that place you call the Casino. Had some swell time there last fall, let me tell you. Up to the board of trade banquet it was and they had some of the nicest vittals I ever set down to. And people—why, there were more people eating at that banquet than there is in our whole town."

"Always like to look at your jail. Never went through it, but I'm going to some day. Wouldn't like to live there permanently though. Must be like being shut up in an animal's cage with a keeper always watching you. No, I wouldn't care to live there."

"Had my dinner at one of those Chinese places on Central Street today. Ordered some of that chop suey stuff, but Mirandy's boiled dinner has got it beat a mile. Another thing I didn't like was the way the bridge outside that restaurant kept creaking and shaking every time a big team went over it. What if a team should drop through? Made me feel shaky just listening to it."

"Took in the movies this afternoon, and say, I was glad Mirandy wasn't there. She wouldn't have stood for it—no sir, not for a minute. 'Course she's got old fashioned ideas. I saw this Theda Bara in some kind of a picture, and believe me, young feller, the next time she comes to town I'll be here."

"They don't sell beer here any more, I see. What are the Lowell folks going to do. Beer's a good, healthy drink. Well, I've got some good old elderberry wine down cellar, and I know where to get some more. Us folks in the country ain't so far behind the times after all."

"These fire engines now, they make me laugh. Of course they're great things. And they go like the dickens. But what do they need to blow a whistle for when they're coming down the road? They make so much noise a fellow can hear 'em coming before he sees them."

"They tell me Lowell folks are all friend stor's 'shed us on the city."

het up about the high cost of living. But look at the bargains in the department store cellars—basements, they call 'em. All kinds of bargains. Mirandy spent almost $2 the last time we came to town, and she figures she won't have to come again for a long time.

"Awfully nice clerks they have in the stores too. Polite little girls, and nice sociable ways. A fellow just couldn't help buying something, even if he didn't want to in the first place."

"But I should think it would make people lazy shopping in these big stores. Nobody walks upstairs because they always tell you to take the elevators."

"Saw the chief of police driving by in his auto today. Say, he's a big man, isn't he? I'd hate to meet up with him if I committed a crime. There can't be many crooks in this city, with a big man like that to keep an eye on them. He must have a wallop like this here Dempsey fellow."

"Those street sprinklers make a hit with me. Don't have any back home, but if I ever get to be selectman I'm going to see what can be done. They seem to keep the street's cool and clean all the time. Only thing puzzles me is how the man that works the squitter can keep from wetting the people. He must have good eye sight."

"Yes, Lowell's a pretty good city, in some ways. And some ways it ain't. But it's getting better every day. I think Mirandy says that its sinful the short skirts the girls wear nowadays, but then as I said before, Mirandy's old fashioned."

And with that the Old Timer ordered Dobbin to shake his feet, and we wondered if perhaps there weren't a lot of things about Lowell we'd missed since friend stor's 'shed us on the city."

EL PASO, TARGET OF VILLA REBELS' BULLETS

View of the business district of El Paso, Texas, where Mexican rebel bullets whined their song of hate and sounded the challenge which American troops accepted when they raced through Juarez, just across the Rio Grande, scattering Villa's hands after the latter had been routed in open battle with the Yanks. In the foreground is San Jacinto park, so named for the decisive battle in the war by which Texas achieved her independence of Mexico.

WHERE UNITED STATES TROOPS ROUTED VILLA SNIPERS

The heart of old Juarez, Mexican border town just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Texas, scene of many bloody conflicts, into which Villa drove the Mexican federals on June 14-15 after sharp fighting, and from which he was put to flight by American troops rushed across the line to protect El Paso from snipers' bullets. This picture shows the historic plaza of Juarez and the 300-year-old adobe mission of Our Lady of Guadalupe, in the shadow of which United States soldiers bivouacked a few days ago.

Above, a company of Mexican federal troops drawn up in front of the armory in Juarez, one of the strongholds in the old Mexican town which Villa's men attempted to reach in the recent fighting. Below, a band of Mexican rebels riding into the desert mesquite south of Juarez, showing the nature of the country over which United States cavalry, artillery and engineer units pursued scattering Villistas after the latter had killed one American soldier, wounded several others and endangered civilians on the American side by firing into El Paso, Texas, just across the border.

Embarrassing Hairs

Hairs can be easily banished from the skin by this quick, painless method: Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package.—Adv.

Healthy Bowels

Nine-tenths of human sickness, from infancy to old age, comes from stomach or bowels being out of order. Headaches, tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness stop, if you treat the stomach and bowels right and get them into working order. The prescription, known as Dr. True's Elixir, has done wonders for sick people, men, women and children, because it is the one remedy that you can rely on to get things right in the stomach and bowels. Sold by all druggists, big or little, everywhere. Druggists, as a rule, are very honest. They do not try to substitute something else for Dr. True's Elixir, because they know its value. Many druggists use it in their own families.—Adv.

REPLY FROM AUSTRIA

Willing To Be Satisfied With Role of Participating Member of League

PARIS, Wednesday, July 9.—Symphony with the idea of the League of Nations and an expression of willingness to be satisfied with the role of a participating member in that organization, and to enjoy its protection, was expressed in the Austrian reply to the allied peace terms, made public here today. The reply was dated at St. Germain, June 13, in the form of a communication from Chancellor Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, to Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace conference.

The reply set forth that the delegation recognized that Austria, as the text of the note names the nation, could not well take a part in the participation of creating the league, but will be glad of its protection "without taking an important part in the rights and obligations entailed by membership in this league."

The note says that German Austria has been charged with responsibility for the war without any fault of its own. The principles upon which the new nations are founded are set forth as essentially democratic. Essentially, the note continues, the nation is founded "on the two principal classes, working men and peasants, who under the old regime never had a real share in the direction of the state and could never freely realize their political aims."

be the first time a president has presented a treaty in person and the first time a message of presentation has been received with the senate's doors open to the public.

By common consent, the senate is expected again to violate its practices of more than a century and order the treaty printed immediately for public circulation.

Whether it will go further and invite the president to make a more detailed explanation before the foreign relations committee was a question warmly debated in informal conferences today. The White House announcement yesterday, that President Wilson was eager to make such an appearance was variously interpreted. It was said a decision might be reached soon after the committee takes up the treaty next week.

To Order Treaty Printed

At today's session it was planned only to hear the president's address, refer the treaty to the committee and order it printed. Adjournment then was to be taken until Monday, when the debate on ratification will begin. This debate, lasting perhaps, for many weeks, also is expected to be held with open doors, and in the opinion of some senators the committee is likely to admit the public when it questions Secretary Lansing and other members of the peace delegation.

Excluded to the capital by the five senior members of the foreign relations committee, the president was to arrive at 12.15, fifteen minutes after the senate met, and begin his address at once. The committee members, headed by Chairman Lodge, a league opponent, arranged to go to the White House at 11 o'clock and to have a brief talk with President Wilson before the departure for the senate chamber. Admission to the senate gallery was to be by card only, each senator having been allotted six tickets. The house had adjourned until 2 o'clock so that members could hear the president.

Both Sides Confident

The senate situation confronting the president was one of many possibilities, variously estimated by the leaders for and against the League of Nations. With every senator present or paired when the final ratification roll call is taken, the treaty with its league covenant must receive a two-thirds majority—67 votes. This total, the president's supporters declare, is assured while the opposition leaders assert it can never be attained without the inclusion of many reservations in the ratification resolution.

The first test will come with the attempt to write in the various reservations. For this opponents of the League of Nations claim only a simple majority—50 votes, will be required.

Republicans for Changes

The claim of administration leaders is that 45 of the 52 democratic senators and at least eight republicans will vote against any reservation that will violate the principles of the league or in any way menace its existence. Against this is an opposition claim that every one of the 42 republican senators and from two to four democrats will vote in favor of the reservations they expect to propose.

The reservation a suggested have covered a wide field, however, and both sides admit that the score of senators who have not taken a decided stand will have varying support to the various proposals. Some who are warm adherents to the general league plan may vote for reservations that will clarify the senate's position, though they oppose any declaration which would prevent the United States from sharing fully in the league.

City Council

tion from Commissioner Donnelly stating that the instructions of the city council of June 17 to prepare a supplementary budget to provide for 15 per cent wage increases for various city employees had been carried out and that the total of the budget necessary for such increases was $78,100. This would have to be met by this year's revenue. For every $7800 that is voted, 10 cents will be added to the tax rate. Appropriation orders for other purposes would have to be considered separately.

Mayor Thompson said that if the council voted to adopt the budget, the money appropriated for each department would go to the head of the department to be distributed, according to the charter as he saw fit, but he emphasized the fact that it was the intention of the council to use the money for a general 15 per cent advance for employees.

The order was then passed unanimously, the total amount being itemized as follows:

Charity relief	500
Charity hospital	1200
Health office	1200
Health milk-vicar	1200
Health yard	1200
Police	15,300
Fire	17,300
Comfort station	600
Ride range	125
Buildings	5300
City hall	800
Sealer	300
Street maintenance	16,000
State aid	100
Paris	2100
Treasurer	1000
Purchasing agent	300
City clerk	300
Laboratory	500
	$78,100

A. G. Colburn sent a written protest to the council against the 15 per cent increase on the grounds that living conditions do not warrant it.

The mayor said that there was sufficient money in the law department to provide for the necessary salary increase without any additional appropriation and Commissioner Donnelly said that the same thing held true in the assessors' department.

Commissioner Murphy said that the $16,000 voted the street department would enable him to provide a wage increase but that he must have $25,000 more for street maintenance or else the time would come when he would have to lay off his men. Mayor Thompson explained that the present budget was to take care merely of wage increases and that other orders would be considered later.

Following the passage of the order the council voted to raise the amount specified by taxation this year.

$20,000 for Sewers

Commissioner Murphy asked that the council once more consider his order to borrow $20,000 for sewer construction. Mayor Thompson said that before any action was taken he should like to read a letter received by Commissioner Marchand from Henry L. Bourke, architect of the proposed addition to the Morey school, relative to the revision of estimates for the construction of the building. He read as follows:

Hon. George E. Marchand, Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

With reference to your recent request that I consult with the several contractors whose estimates on the proposed addition to the Morey school were the lowest, and see how much of a saving could be made by omitting all the repairs in the present building and changing the construction of the new addition from fireproof construction to second class construction, I hereby submit the following:

A saving can be made the city of Lowell:

By changing the construction of the new addition from fireproof construction to second class construction;

Omitting all repairs, alterations and additions in the present building, which consist of the removal of the present boilers and stack heaters, the fireproofing of all floors, staircases and ceilings, the required ventilating and heating of the present building.

The omission of reinforced concrete sub-basement for heating boilers;

The installation of one tubular boiler in the basement of the new addition to heat the same (the space for heating boiler and coal bin to be taken from the assembly hall).

The omission of all toilets in present building for kindergarten pupils and teachers.

The omission of domestic science department which consists of sewing room, cooking room, pantry, fresh air room, storage room, closets, etc.

The omission of all bells, telephones, clocks and fire alarms.

The omission of toilets in basement for bath room, fresh air room, etc.

The omission of all blackboards, frames, etc., and all repairs and carpenter work, plastering, plumbing, heating, wiring, etc., in the present building.

The following changes are to be made in the new addition by changing the fireproof construction to second class construction (the present floor and roof construction as specified are to be of reinforced concrete beam and slab construction; partitions in basement to be of brick, and partitions above to be of gypsum tile).

The omission of all blackboards, frames, etc., and all repairs and carpenter work, plastering, plumbing, heating, wiring, etc., in the present building.

Wood partitions to be used instead of drop partitions.

Wood stairs in place of iron stairs.

Terrazzo doors omitted in corridor and toilet.

Exposed surfaces of granite to be replaced in place of hammered work.

Steel columns to be placed in assembly hall to support floors above.

All showers for boys and girls and hot water supplies to all fixtures to be omitted.

All metal furniture and bathing on all outside walls to be omitted; the plastering to be plastered onto brick work; wood lathes on all wood partitions.

All stained glass in entrance from the contractors whose bids were the lowest submitted to you on June 16, amount to $18,950.

By omitting all of the above mentioned work, plumbing, heating and plastering, heating, carpenter work, ventilating work and electric wiring, I can give you in order to bring the building to a ready state, I would be pleased to have you have me.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY L. BOURKE.

$4,000 Reduction

Accepting this statement was one showing the reduction in contractors' estimates, which was as follows:

General construction	$78,100
Plumbing	12,000
Heating	12,000
Electric wiring	12,000
Plastering	12,000
Painting	12,000
Carpeting	12,000
Other	12,000
Total	$130,100

The total of these reductions is $130,100. In the original estimate of $144,100, which was submitted to you on June 16, the total would make an actual reduction of $14,000. The reduction in architect's commission would be $272, which added to the $45,375 makes a reduction over all of $48,097.

The original bid for carpentry was $34,700. Extra work occasioned by the change, would figure $35,027, making a total of $69,727.

Mayor Thompson commented on the communication as follows: "That means that Commissioner Marchand will have to have about $100,000 more to carry on the work and our financial condition doesn't permit us to borrow such a sum. I'd rather not put up a building there if it means that after it is constructed we'll regret that a little more money hadn't been expended. The revised estimates call for no work on the old building and it seems to me that the matter will have to be put in abeyance until there is a further revision or until such time as the city can see its way clear to build a proper school. In the meantime perhaps the commissioner may be able to confer with the school committee regarding the erection of more portable schools."

No action was taken, meaning that the project has been virtually postponed for another year.

The mayor then came back to Commissioner Murphy's loan order for $25,000 for sewers and $15,000 for macadam. He stated that no such amount could be borrowed this year. He asked the commissioner if he couldn't get by on $20,000 for sewers and use the other $5,000 for street work. Commissioner Murphy replied that he "supposed he could get by."

He added that the contagious hospital sewer is eating up two-thirds of the sewer appropriation and that there are still three more weeks to work on it before its completion.

The mayor said that up to the present time Commissioner Murphy had been appropriated $70,000 for sewers and with $20,000 additional, he would have $90,000, an unusually large amount for the work.

Commissioner Morse said that the worst part of the isolation hospital sewer project was that there wouldn't be a "nickle of revenue coming back to the city." He asked the mayor if he could see where there would be any revenue from it.

"Only the revenue of the good of humanity," replied the mayor.

Commissioner Marchand moved that the sewer order be re-written to provide for a loan of $20,000 instead of $25,000 and in its re-written form it was unanimously passed.

The council then approved monthly bills before adjourning until Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

DR. BLUE ADVISES YOU

BY DR. RUPERT BLUE.

Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service.

It is usually not difficult to keep comfortable, even in hot weather, provided one observes a few simple precautions. And that the observance of such precautions is important to keep in good health is well indicated by the high death rate among infants in hot weather. Many of these deaths are distinctly preventable.

In summer many mothers still make the mistake of dressing their infants dark-colored, and cotton, or linen cooler than woolen.

The question of diet is very important. Just as an engineer keeps his fire low when there is no call for heat, so a sensible person will reduce the amount of food in his daily diet. This is a simple thing to do in summer, for an abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables are available from which to make excellent, tasty meals. Moreover the use of such foods is decidedly beneficial, for they supply important elements such as mineral salts and vitamins required by the body. So far as protein is concerned, crackers and milk are excellent sources of this important element of food.

A word of caution regarding drinking. The drinking of large amounts of fluid throws extra work on the body, especially on the kidneys and the skin. It is just as easy to quench the thirst with smaller amounts of fluid, provided one does not take large gulps. Alcoholic beverages should be avoided as they only increase the discomfort.

While much has been said about the danger of putting ice directly into drinking water, the danger has been much exaggerated. If the ice has been washed off before being placed in the water little harm need be feared. While approving, therefore, of the use of ice water, still caution should be exercised against the drinking of excessive quantities.

For those fortunate enough to have an electric fan available the plan may be suggested of having this placed so that it blows current of air under the head. This appears to be decidedly helpful in making for comfortable sleep.

When possible do your strenuous work in the early morning and late evening when it is cooler.

If you have much walking to do take it quietly and find the shady side of the street. Keep the mind as well as the body cool. Don't worry. Don't fuss. Keep serene.

LOWELL GETS AMERICAN LEGION CHARTER

A charter for a Lowell post of the American Legion was sent to this city yesterday by the officials of the state legion. It will be acted upon and ratified at the next meeting of the Lowell veterans. The meeting last Friday night adjourned with the understanding that the next meeting should be called at the pleasure of the chairman and as yet no call has been sent out.

The temporary organization of Lowell veterans voted to form a Lowell post of the American Legion at last week's meeting. Three weeks ago the American Legion constitution was explained to the men by John C. Legrand and at that time they voted to take the matter under consideration.

This was done and the vote to join came last week. As the American Legion seems to be the only national bona fide organization of world war veterans in the country, it is confidently believed that practically every service man in this city will join the Lowell post.

ELKS' PARADE

Feature of Convention' at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 10.—A large number of members of congress, all of them Elks, arrived here last night from Washington to participate in the "peace victory parade" that will be the feature here today of the annual grand lodge reunion of the order. The former speaker, Joseph G. Cannon, has been invited to lead the 3000 soldier members of the organization.

A feature of yesterday's business session was the adoption of a resolution condemning Bolshevism and kindred un-American movements.

The convention pledged the order to continue the campaign to help disabled soldiers, sailors and marines in financing their vocational training until the regular financial assistance from the government reaches them. More than 2000 veterans are now being taken care of by this arrangement.

SWITZERLAND LEADER SUPPORTS LEAGUE

BERNE, Wednesday, July 9.—Dr. Felix Calender, former president and head of the political department of the Swiss government, speaking at a conference with the press on the League of Nations today, said he was convinced that the non-adhesion of Switzerland to the league and her consequent political isolation would be a great error.

"The league founded at Paris," he said, "is imperfect and should be amended but, nevertheless, it constitutes a work that commands respect and has an appeal as tending to facilitate the progress of humanity."

R-34 on Way Home

Continued

Long Island, the dirigible passed over New York City, circled over the Times Building tower at 12:45, remained in sight of a dense Broadway crowd for five minutes before heading south over lower Manhattan and disappeared in an easterly direction.

For more than an hour the naval communications office sent wireless reports of weather conditions at sea to the R-34, and the wireless stations at the Mineola flying fields were in communication with her until near 4 a. m. when the R-34 radio operator requested that further weather reports be sent from the Bar Harbor radio station.

Broadway Crowded

Announcement by Major G. H. Scott, commander of the R-34 of his intention to sail over the city was made in theatres and restaurants, with the result that thousands of persons crowded in Broadway for a glimpse of the ship as she passed through the shafts of light sent skyward from scores of searchlights. She flew quite low over Broadway, not being much over 500 feet in the air and proceeding at low speed.

News that the dirigible had left Roosevelt field at Mineola spread rapidly throughout the greater city and while Broadway enjoyed the best view of the airship, it was plainly discernible from open spaces and the roofs of buildings throughout the lower section of the city. The gigantic Sperry gyroscope in Brooklyn and searchlights with penetrating power kept the big gas bag in view until she passed out of range.

Well Out to Sea

"Well out to sea" was the last message from the R-34 picked up by the police headquarters at 2:15 a. m., almost an hour after Major Scott had fulfilled his promise to pilot his ship over New York.

The decision to make the start was reached early last evening when Major Scott received a warning from the United States weather bureau that the strong southwest winds might continue for another day and endanger the bag on the exposed plain of Roosevelt field. The crew was hastily summoned. Gas was taken on and final preparations for the homeward flight were completed in record time. Major Scott said just before the start that he expected to encounter light west winds on the first part of the homeward voyage, but later favorable winds. After the ship reached mid-ocean he said the speed should be increased from 15 to 20 miles an hour.

The following messages were received from the R-34 today by the naval communications office:

2:45 a. m.—Everything O. K. Bound for England.

3 a. m.—Speed 49 knots. Going well. Everything O. K.

3:15 a. m.—Signals unreadable due to rapid increase of distance and speed and atmospheric static.

It took the R-34 about three minutes to rise to the height at which she began cruising.

Brig.-Gen. Lionel Charlton, British aviation attaché in the United States, said that the ship would employ only the three engines on which she started unless unexpected conditions arose.

Will Sail Over London

With favorable conditions Maj. G. H. Scott, her commander, hopes to make the voyage in 30 hours, sailing over London before proceeding to East Fortune, Scotland, if weather conditions permit.

Fine, healthy skin for every member of the family

FROM the kiddie up to daddy. To have clear, radiant, healthy skin, health authorities have been urging the value of washing properly. They know how important it is to keep the skin protected—more than just clean.

Every minute of the day the moisture on your skin is gathering dust and dirt from the air. This settles deep in the pores; makes the skin lifeless, unhealthy. And ordinary washing doesn't really cleanse the skin; it merely removes the surface dirt.

To have that fine, healthy color you have so often admired in others, the soap you use must benefit and protect the skin, as well as cleanse!

When you wash with Lifebuoy Health Soap, you do more than cleanse. Its big, bubbling lather carries a mild, healthful antiseptic right down into the pores. It leaves the skin protected and refreshed. You notice that your complexion grows fresher, clearer and healthier every day.

nozed out of Roosevelt field the moon appeared from behind black clouds, partially lighting up the dark night. A few raindrops pattered down.

At 12:01 light along the deck of the dirigible, which runs virtually the entire length of the envelope inside, were switched on and the great ship herself appeared a long streak of light swimming in the radiance of the searchlights.

Up to 12:01 the R-34 had drifted sideways in the current of a southwest wind. At this hour she nosed into the wind, sailed about 900 feet and about one minute later disappeared from the view of the crowds at Roosevelt field.

Martha's Vineyard is off the southern coast of Massachusetts.

Stowaway Goes on Steamer

ROOSEVELT FIELD, Mineola, N. Y., July 10.—Ballantyne, the now noted stowaway, will not be permitted to re-cross the Atlantic on the ship that he so dearly loves, but will be sent home on a steamer. It is believed that he will not be severely punished for his escapade, but will probably be "let off" with a reprimand.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND

"The Great Romance," with Harold Lockwood appearing in the leading role, will be one of the chief attractions at the Strand beginning with matinee today. It is an imaginative romance dealing with the unusual and exciting happenings which occur about a young American finds himself the heir to a small European throne. The idea does not appeal to him at first but when he discovers that it involves the happiness of the girl he loves, he readily accepts. What his lot is thereafter is better told by the picture itself. Suffice it to say that he meets up with many thrilling adventures, some of which seriously threaten his downfall. Of course he wins in the end, but not until he has overcome many obstacles. There is good romance, some comedy and many thrills that combine in making it thoroughly enjoyable. Mr. Lockwood appears as the young American and finds the role suitable to his unusual talent as a screen star. He receives the support of a noted cast.

"The Amateur Adventure" is a breezy comedy-drama in six parts. It gives Emmy Wehlen, the exquisite star of the screen, a role of unusual originality and charm. She is seen as the girl who tires of her monotonous existence and determines to seek the adventure which she craves. Two things are necessary, however: clothes and money, neither of which she possesses. How she eventually gets both, and what she encounters in her quest for excitement is cleverly shown in this brilliant and amusing comedy. The play has romance and love in good measure.

The latest comedy and a new Universal Weekly, together with many numbers by Miss Rita B. Thompson, and other notable contributions to the week end bill. And remember the Strand is the coolest spot in town. The party contest is arousing added interest each succeeding day. Who will the leader be next week?

The Four Solares, two men and two women, are the greatest free attractions of this nature even booked at Lakeview, so the big crowd are saying. The yappear twice a day on the big open-air platform. Dancing, too, is always enjoyable. When Minerdos's 10 musical experts open up and Barney Horan sings. Try it.

of the exchequer, giving the government power by an order in council to extend colonial preference to any territory under the League of Nations. The vote was 195 to 55.

During the debate James Myles Hooper, Liberal, contended that this policy would sow dissension among the nations because the covenant of the League of Nations promised equal trade and commercial opportunities in those territories. He asked whether if the United States should be given the mandate for Constantinople, the other members of the league would be liable, as regards that city, to the United States fiscal system.

Sir Donald Maclean also protested against the amendment, but Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, replied that what the government would be empowered to do would not be contrary to anything in the covenant.

VILLA'S FINISH UP SHOT OF JUAREZ BATTLE

BY JACK NEVILLE.
(N.E.A. Staff Correspondent.)
JUAREZ, Mexico, July.—Villa has no present intention of massacring Americans in Mexico in retaliation for the rout of his forces at Juarez by United States troops for firing into El Paso during the June 15th battle.

Those who know him best along the border are convinced of this, and every day since the Villa spanking has added to this conviction.

The general impression among Americans and Mexicans here is that Villa's power is completely broken; that the Juarez fiasco put the finish to his "finishing strength."

On the heels of his flight into the southward desert, I came to the important, bullet-scarred little border town of Juarez seeking clues to answer the big question which is the aftermath of Villa's latest and perhaps last death: "Will he attempt reprisals on the Americans in Mexico?"

Only the future will show what the Americans in Mexico?

Villa is Yellow

Adding what I know about the rebel chieftain to what I have gathered here from all sources, I believe I am safe in saying, He will not!

On his conduct toward Americans in Mexico depends Uncle Sam's further conduct toward the Pancho. But even with Americans unmolested, Villa has almost certainly been eliminated as a menace.

Only the future will show what Villa's incalculable and monstrous passions will prompt him to do, but every time he has been in a corner he has turned yellow, and defeat has bowed him.

These facts and traits, however, have only slightly mitigated the concern felt in both the United States and in Mexico for the safety of the 700 Americans in the Mormon colonies with their fruit farms in and about Colonia Dubaut, Colonia Garcia and Casas Grandes, less than 100 miles southwest of Juarez.

Whether or not they go unmolested, depends on the Pancho's inconsistent whims and the protection given by Carranza's federals immediately dispatched for that purpose.

Villa is a man of boundless passions. At times chivalrous toward women, he has at other times been a monster inattitude. On occasions he has protected the helpless; at other times his bestial rage has taken horrid tribute of the innocent.

In speculating as to what the rebel chief's attitude will be toward Americans in Mexico, it is illuminating to recall the man's reactions to victory and to defeat.

He hasn't won an engagement of any importance since his reversal on the field of Celaya, after his heyday as a Maderista chieftain. At Agua Prieta he met disaster. At Hermosilla he was trounced by Manuel Dieguez—the same man who now confronts him at Chihuahua. At Juarez, in the recent attempt to take the town, he was hurled back twice by General Francisco Gonzales, June 15 and 16, before the Americans scattered his sniping followers.

Every time Villa has been in a tight place he has crawled. At Juarez, in other days, he cowered before Madero. At Santa Rosalia he fell on his knees and tearfully pleaded for his life before Huerta. At Chihuahua he was bluffed by Carranza when he would have murdered Gen. Manuel Chao.

His own life spared under such humiliating circumstances, Villa's lack of mercy to enemies caught in similar predicament show the bandit's slant. But, unnerved by defeat, he is even more craven than ruthless.

An Absolute Coward

This, together with his loss of "face" in the clash with United States troops at Juarez, and the general assumption here that General Felipe Angeles, his chief aide, will counsel that reprisals on Americans would be the height of folly, is relied upon as a practical assurance that Americans in Mexico will not be molested as an aftermath of the Juarez punitive dash.

Furthermore—before the recent Juarez attack, Angeles is said to have sent a courier to El Paso disclaiming any part in the assault which resulted in casualties on the Texas side. If this is true, Villa is through with Angeles, and their force is certain to split up.

As far as Mexicans here are concerned, the Juarez defeat has punctured and deflated the "great fear" of the Pancho which has hung for months over the border. They have seen him soundly licked. They have picked his dead from the hot streets. They saw how easily and quickly the Americans scattered his band into the desert. His terrible prestige is shattered. Even his best friends say he is a broken reed.

The town that was sleepless with terror of the Pancho is slumbering soundly for the first time in months.

The scores of Santa Ysabel and of Columbus have been paid.

Pancho Villa, by turns Mexican hero, Robin Hood and terrorist, has sunk to slinking banditry again—probably to unmentioned oblivion.

NEVILLE'S SUMMARY OF JUAREZ AFFAIR AND ITS MEANING

Villa is through.

Mexican revolutionists seeking to overturn the Carranza regime must find some other leader to whom to pin their faith.

This is the meaning of the recent defeat at Juarez, of 1500 Mexican bandits led by Villa and General Felipe Angeles.

The interference of American troops, who drove Villa's army from Ciudad Juarez, sets a precedent. It means two things: that peaceful American citizens will no longer be sacrificed to lawless bandits; and that Villa can never capture a point of entry into the United States.

Those who are following Villa, or are using him, are now thoroughly impressed with Uncle Sam's determination that Villa never shall possess territory near our border.

Why did not Uncle Sam's troops go farther and capture Villa's army by a cavalry raid? Probably the answer is the problem of 1000 prisoners. The United States would have had to ex-cute these prisoners, or to turn them over to Carranza to be executed.

It would have been militarily possible, even easy, to have made this capture.

The affair does not mean that American troops are being used for the benefit of Carranza. This is a wrong interpretation, spread around for political motives.

The true reason is that the American army is determined to protect Americans. Border fighting means indiscriminate shooting.

This protection was determined upon by the military command, several days before the crisis.

American orders were: "Kill all who resist."

The bullets which came across the border, came from Villa's men. Hence the American fire was directed solely against Villistas. Had Carranza's

THE BATTLE in your BLOOD

TO understand just what Anemia is, and how it affects the system, you must understand what the blood is and what it must do to keep you well and strong.

THE blood is composed mainly of two substances, called the white and red corpuscles. The white corpuscles are the disease-fighters, the germ-killers. The red corpuscles are the food carriers, the body builders, the strength-givers.

WHEN your blood does not contain enough red corpuscles—when we say the blood is poor and thin—then you have Anemia.

ANEMIA is a very, very serious trouble. You can easily understand this because Anemia is practically slow starvation.

YOU may eat large meals; but the trouble is, that the food you eat is not the kind of food required by the blood. You need RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

TO be well and strong, you must have pure, rich blood. When there is paleness and weakness; palpitation of the heart, headaches, backache, giddiness and ringing in the ears; where there is indigestion, loss of appetite and sleeplessness; and especially where there is a feeling of discouragement, melancholy and nervous depression; then you may be sure that you are suffering with Anemia and need the help of RED PILLS.

MRS. JOS. DUQUETTE, 30 White Row, Danielson, Conn., says: "For three years I suffered from female weakness. My strength had left me entirely, and I could hardly walk around the house. I took the RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women and after a while I got stronger and my pains and aches gradually disappeared. I still use them as a tonic whenever I feel myself getting run down, and I consider them as an indispensable article in my household, for they have always benefited me greatly!"

CAUTION:—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French specialist. They have been used by French women ever since. Insist on the signature of the "CHIMIQUE FRANCO AMERICAINE", and a serial number on each box. RED PILLS are never sold in bulk; only in boxes, 50 cents, or 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or sent by mail on receipt of price, by the Franco-American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Mill Street, Boston, Mass. 16

FAMO Must Grow Hair or Money is Returned

FAMO is sold by the druggist in this advertisement, on a positive money-back basis.

Unless you are absolutely satisfied with FAMO, you may return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money.

But we know you will not have to take advantage of this offer.

The results achieved by FAMO are so wonderful that every purchaser is more than satisfied.

FAMO destroys the dandruff bacilli. It checks the deadly seborrheic excretion which causes dandruff and makes the hair and scalp healthy.

There has never been anything like the way FAMO nourishes the hair. Even where baldness has appeared, FAMO will encourage and stimulate a growth of new hair—unless the roots are absolutely dead.

New, luxuriant hair appears when FAMO is used regularly.

When FAMO is used, the seborrheic microbe dies. The dandruff disappears.

Nature has its way. The hair flourishes as it never did before.

Grayness is retarded because FAMO contains no alcohol.

The persistent use of alcohol on the head causes grayness and falling hair.

When you use FAMO you can see the difference almost from the first application.

The natural color is intensified—the hair has a new lustre and sheen.

The hair grows like the hair of a healthy child.

The scalp is as clean as a baby's—the hair luxuriant and soft.

FAMO is the result of three years of careful experimentation in the laboratories of one of the oldest pharmaceutical houses in Detroit.

Before it was offered to the public, it had been tried and tested and had proven the wonderful results it accomplishes.

FAMO is the answer of scientists to the ravages of the seborrheic bacilli which cause unhealthy hair. Even if dandruff has not made its appearance, you should use FAMO to keep the scalp and hair healthy and make the hair fluffy and beautiful.

FAMO comes in two sizes—35 cents and an extra large bottle at $1.00.

It is sold at all toilet goods counters.

Seborrhea is a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrheic secretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

but except that sufficient for the reduced German army provided for in the peace treaty and the president believes American troops should stay on the Rhine until the material is delivered.

Covenant in all Treaties

The president let it be known that the League of Nations covenant would be in every treaty negotiated at Versailles, including that with Bulgaria, with which country the United States never was at war.

In response to questions regarding the Rhine situation, he pointed out that the Treaty of London provided that Rhine should go to Croatia, and that Italy did not lay claim to the city when that treaty was signed.

The president made it clear that demobilization of the American army would depend upon the speed with which the military conditions of the peace treaty were executed by Germany and the treaty was ratified by the various governments.

He feels that the United States must play a generous part in the reconstruction of Europe, but he believes this should be accomplished by establishing some sound basis of credit, rather than by direct government aid.

He let it be known to the correspondents that the treaty with France was designed for the protection of France until such time as this special guarantee would no longer be needed because of the protection to be afforded all nations by the League of Nations.

American Aid to France

He has the impression that the French people would be cut to the heart if the United States should fail to approve the special treaty. He does not believe there would be any difficulty in recognizing such an act of aggression by Germany as would necessitate American aid to France under the pact.

The president is said to take the position that while there is a slight difference in wording between the new treaty with France and the similar treaty between Great Britain and France, there is no difference in meaning. It is said he believes that the obligations imposed upon the United States and Great Britain are identical.

It is understood that he does not regard these treaties as forming an alliance in the general acceptance of the term. He is represented as conceiving them to be only instrumentalities further to protect France while the permanent plans of the League of Nations council are being worked out.

EBERT SIGNS RATIFICATION

German President Approves Bill Ratifying Treaty of Peace

Peace Conference Officially Notified of Ratification by Assembly

BERLIN, Wednesday, July 9. (By the Associated Press.)—President Ebert signed the bill ratifying the peace treaty here at 3 o'clock tonight, according to the Verwaerts, and the document has been despatched to Versailles.

Notified of Ratification
VERSAILLES, July 10.—Official notification of the ratification of the peace treaty by the German National assembly was given the peace conference today. The notification was presented at 11 a. m. by Baron Kurt von Lersner, head of the German peace mission here to Col. Henry, French liaison officer at Versailles.

Assembly for Speedy Action
WEIMAR, July 10. (By the Associated Press.)—The German national assembly plainly demonstrated yesterday that it wanted to complete the unpleasant task of ratifying the peace treaty quickly and without obscuring the measure in any way with qualifying resolutions.

The conservatives introduced a resolution which would make ratification dependent upon the judgment of recognized authorities in international law as to whether the proposed international court could institute trial and could, with retroactive authority, impose penalties which had not heretofore been prescribed in international law. The resolution was aimed at the enforcement of articles 227 to 230, inclusive, of the peace treaty (providing for the trial of the former emperor and Germans accused of causing the war or of violations of the rules of war). It also provided for the establishment of a neutral court to pass upon the question of responsibility for the conflict.

The conservatives' resolution was decisively defeated.

HUNGARIAN "REDS" ATTACK RUMANIANS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 10.—Hungarian Bolshevik troops which were withdrawn from the Czechoslovak front on orders from the peace conference have attacked Rumanian forces on the Thales river, according to reports from Transylvania, which say that the fighting continues.

PARIS, Wednesday, July 9.—Debate in the chamber of deputies on the bill to ratify the peace treaty probably will begin on Aug. 1. It is expected that the debate will consume 10 or 12 sessions so that the deputies may ratify the treaty about Aug. 15. The senate will debate ratification during the first ten days of September.

BUTLER—The funeral services of Mrs. Clara E. (Lacy) Butler were held at the chapel in the Edison cemetery yesterday afternoon. Rev. George M. Ward, D.D., acting pastor of the Eliot Union church, officiating. The bearers were Frank W. Wilson, Franklin J. Jordan, Frank T. Pope, Sydney T. Mulvey, Edward A. Brown, and John J. Ward. # TO DISCONTINUE TWO CAR LINES

"Bay State" Trustees To Pull Up Tracks if Cities and Towns Refuse Aid

Agree Complaints Against Sharing Expenses of Non-Paying Lines Well Founded

BOSTON, July 10.—The Georgetown, Rowley and Ipswich and New Bedford, Middleboro and Brockton branches of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. will discontinue service Sept. 1 unless the communities served by these lines extend financial aid. Notices to this effect were served today upon town and city officials by the public trustees of the railway under the provisions of a special act of the legislature of 1918. The two lines include about 51 miles of rail.

The railway trustees say they do not believe either of the branches can be included fairly in any of the adjoining districts of the system, and they feel that the complaint of many communities that they should not be made to carry the financial load of non-paying lines, with which they have nothing directly in common, is a well founded one.

It is announced that the discontinuance of service on other unprofitable lines is being considered by the trustees.

N. E. Baseball League

evidently feeling that Haverhill and Portland as now constituted are strong enough without getting additional players.

From the standpoint of attendance at the games the league has had a tough time this year. It is said that Portland is a $2500 loser, while Lewiston has a deficit of $1400. Lowell and Lawrence are deep down in the financial hole, but Haverhill is ahead of the game. The ranks of the faithful have grown thinner and thinner, and the quarters tinged into the bill with less and less merry frequency and the whole business slumped. If all the playing days were anniversaries of the birth of independence the league would prosper, but unfortunately that glorious event comes but once a year.

Everything pointed to a comfortable journey along the road which leads to success before the season started. In Lowell this was particularly true. The city had been without baseball for two years and looked ready for a good, hearty meal. Sport was due for a terrific boom with the breaking up of the big league across the pond, and although baseball was not common talk on the streets it was felt that the fans would fall in line just as soon as the schedule commenced to operate.

At the outset the teams generally were poor in point of material and the managers and owners soon found that it would never do to foist Class C ball on city people. So the recruits and semi-pros left and real ball players came in their stead. Portland, Lewiston, Haverhill, Lowell and Lawrence formed good, fast teams and with the coming of Burdett to Haverhill the league's weak sister became a sure-enough contender and still looks to be "rearing to go."

But the old interest waned, in fact, it never showed itself in alarming proportions and the league had been under way hardly two weeks, before disturbing rumors of a breakdown were heard in the distance. The team owners took it with a smile, however, and it was not until the occurrence of the Lewiston bomb plot that real fears were entertained for the safety and continued life of the organization.

For all this, the league may weather the storm and get out into clear water again. If it does crack and Lowell and Lawrence fall by the wayside it will mean the end of league baseball in this city, at least, for some moons, for there is no man on the horizon today who possesses the courage and money to take another fling at such an unstable proposition. It will be too bad to see the league go down for the baseball metered out in Lowell has been universally good.

The Portland Press comments upon the Lewiston mixup as follows:

"Bolsheviki days have come upon the New England league. Fred Parent struck because the Lewiston team wouldn't pay him $100 a week and then Lesnie Carignan and Trotzky Gray hoisted the red flag because Portland has been winning all the games. Last night we heard Dutch Penfold had struck because he had been taken out of the game by the capitalistic management of the Lowell team."

"Poor Old Jack Donnelly of the league to enforce peace" went up to Lewiston to lead a counter attack against the Reds of that city and the report from there was that he had assumed command for the time being. Evidence of Bolsheviki propaganda in Lawrence and Lowell are also reported and it is said that the cities might assume control in those cities at any time.

"What will happen in the future there is no predicting. Leagues had weathered worse storms than this and the most energetic propagandists must admit that President Donnelly is a cool and persistent fighter and one not easily discouraged."

The Lewiston Journal makes charges of syndicate baseball and says that Fred Donnelly owns Portland and a good share of Lowell and Haverhill. It also opines that transferring clubs to Worcester and Greenfield won't help the league any. Pres. Donnelly says he has lent money to Haverhill and Lawrence, having kicked in with $1250 in the former city. The Haverhill players threatened to strike a week ago because they were not paid, but Donnelly went to Haverhill and dug up a business man who promised to get some backing and upon that assurance the players returned to the fold. Jesse Burkett has put in no money and has said he is willing to manage the team for his room and board.

All in all it looks like the old bark might be scuttled and left to its fate on the high seas, but here's hoping it won't happen.

OUTING DAY FOR CLERKS

Employees of Local Stores and Druggists Find Pleasure in Country and Shore

Despite the inclement weather the employees of the A. G. Pollard Co. and those of the J. L. Chaffoux Co. spent today at Revere beach, while the clerks of the Bon Marche Co. enjoyed their annual outing at Nantasket beach. The Lowell druggists and those of Haverhill held their annual outing at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro.

The clerks of the A. G. Pollard Co. left John street in two special electric cars this morning, shortly after 9 o'clock, and went to Revere, where at noon dinner was served at the Pleasanton hotel. On account of the rain the sporting events that had been planned were abandoned and the many excursionists spent their time in dancing and enjoying the many amusements along the seashore.

The employees of the J. L. Chaffoux Co. also went to Revere, the trip being made in automobile trucks, which left John street at 9:15 o'clock. The young men and young women in the party enjoyed dinner at the Pleasanton hotel and the remainder of the day was spent in taking in the many sights along the beach.

The members of the Bon Marche Co. Mutual and Benefit association gathered at the railroad station shortly before 9 o'clock this morning and boarded the 9:01 o'clock train for Boston. They took the steamer at Rowe's wharf for Nantasket beach and at noon they enjoyed dinner at the Nantasket hotel. The rest of the day was spent in a most delightful manner.

The annual outing for the Lowell and Haverhill druggists was held at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro this afternoon. The Lowell men boarded a special electric in John street at 11:45 o'clock and upon reaching the grounds were served a buffet luncheon. Sports were carried out in the afternoon and at 6 o'clock dinner was served.

The committee in charge of the various outings were as follows: A. G. Pollard Co.: John Orrell, J. Z. B. Lebrun, Alberle Ducharme, Justin Kimball, Allen Gould, Mary O'Neill and Raoul H. Monier.

Bon Marche Co.: Morton M. Walker and Frank Sullivan. J. L. Chaffoux Co.: Henry F. Sullivan, Eugene Quezada and L. G. Cole. Druggists: William Noonan, Charles Gallagher and John Osgood.

LENS IS SHOWING SIGNS OF REVIVAL

PARIS. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Lens, the most thoroughly devastated town of the war, is showing signs of revival. When the Associated Press correspondent visited this erstwhile busy coal mining center of the department of the Pas de Calais early this year, it still looked as though a set of giant sledge-hammers had pounded the whole place to atoms.

To the west of it lies the grim battlefield of Loos, which has the curious appearance of a petrified sea. The soil has been plowed up in an extraordinary manner by thousands of poisonous gas bombs, which have tinged the sparse vegetation an unhealthy gray.

Before the war, Lens had 30,000 inhabitants. When the correspondent visited the locality in its state of hopeless desolation, there were only three sturdy optimists left, who led a cave men's existence among the ruins. Their nearest point to get food was Bully-Grenay, ten miles away, and there was no transportation.

Things have been mending since. Today, about 3000 of the exiled inhabitants have returned. They are housed in corrugated iron huts formerly used by the British army. The cleaning up of the place, begun by Chinese and German prisoner work squads, is taking off more speed. The approaches have been laid bare to cellars and underground shelters which have been occupied by homeless "househunters."

Even building of a sort is going on; the material used being such odd bits of wood, stone and iron as were still serviceable in the huge rubbish heap that once was Lens.

In the Pas de Calais department alone, 150 towns and villages are in the same plight as Lens, or nearly so. The task of making these places fit to live in again is a herculean one. Labor is available in adequate numbers, but to lodge and feed the men is a great problem. The latest suggestion is to use covered army motor trucks as temporary shelters for the workers by whose efforts Lens is to arise from its ashes.

The most destructive pests we have to look out for at this period are the potato bugs, squash bugs and cucumber beetles. Spray the potatoes every two weeks with a Bordeaux-lead spray. Remember to use the manufactured fungicides and insecticides three times as strong as the manufacturer recommends.

Spray the cucumber and squash vines every week or ten days. The Bordeaux-lead spray is about as good a spray for these pests as you can get. If squash bugs are very troublesome get rid of them by trapping. Place a piece of shingle on the ground near the root. The squash bugs will hide beneath it at night and can be collected in the morning. Moth balls are also a good repellent for squash bugs. Place one or two in each hill. It isn't too late yet to put in another planting of shell or string beans, lettuce, kohlrabi, turnip, cauliflower or late cabbage plants.

Watch out for plant lice now. It is during the hot weather that they increase so rapidly. It is a good plan to inspect your potato and tomato vines every day if possible. And then when you do find them don't wait until they cover the vines. Jason Bailey, one of the R.F.D. carriers from the Montpelier postoffice, explained to inquirers that the noise issuing from his mail-pouch was made by a pig about four weeks old which he was to deliver to a man living two miles from Montpelier.

Don't forget to order The Sun mailed to you while away on your vacation. FURNISHED ROOMS to let, also light housekeeping. Call at 337 Central st.

SOME HINTS ON THE VICTORY GARDEN

Now that the hot dry weather is with us there are certain garden practices that should be followed if one is to obtain the maximum production from his garden.

A thorough cultivation of the whole garden at least once a week—better twice a week if you have time—is perhaps the best solution of the problem. One need not cultivate deeply, but just enough to keep an inch or two of the surface soil loosened up. Such a practice conserves the soil moisture to a marked degree and is the best method known to prevent weed growth.

Don't think you have got to water your garden every night in order to produce results. Keeping the surface soil loosened up in good shape does more good than a ten minute sprinkling with the hose. If your garden needs water, soak it thoroughly until the soil becomes muddy, then

WHILE AUSTRIA WILL BE ADMITTED

PARIS, Wednesday, July 9.—Austria will be admitted to membership in the League of Nations as soon as the allied and associated powers consider that she possesses a responsible government with both the will and the power to fulfill its international obligations. All City Employees, With Exception of Department Heads and Water and School Department Employees, Included—Will Increase 1919 Tax Rate 80 Cents Per Thousand—Morey School Project Virtually Abandoned

A general increase of 15 per cent for tax rate and $1.50 next year. The supplementary budget submitted by Commissioner Donnelly of the finance department included only enough for wage increases and did not take in various orders submitted by several departments for additional appropriations for running expenses. These will be considered separately as distinct orders at a later time.

A second high light of this morning's meeting was the virtual decision to abandon the Morey school annex project for the present, at least, when it was found that in order to cut the original estimates $15,000, the building would have to be devoid of practically every convenience and many essentials.

LIQUOR LICENSES

Local Liquor Dealers Make Application For Licenses

That the Lowell liquor dealers expect to open for business for the sale of 2.5 per cent beer at an early date was proven to a certain degree today when it was announced at the office of the license commission that up to noon 15 applications had been filed for 1st, 2d and 4th class liquor licenses under the old law which, when granted, will empower the dealers to sell 2 1/2 per cent beer subject to federal regulations. The license commission stands willing to grant these licenses, the commission stated, providing the licensees comply with the regulations regarding the taking out of such license.

The commission believes that it has no authority to grant renewals or extensions to liquor licenses operative prior to July 1 and, therefore, will take no action on the application for renewals of liquor licenses which are being made at the office. The commission.

President Lays Peace Treaty Before Senate and Appeals For Ratification

Senate Galleries Rock With Cheers as Nation's Chief Appears—Says Question Is Whether We Can Refuse Moral Leadership, Whether We Shall Reject Confidence of World—Declares League Only Hope For Mankind—Outlines Great Tasks Before Peace Conference—High Tribute to American Army

WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Wilson today laid the peace treaty before the senate with Germany before the senate without attempting to explain its specific terms. His address, which required forty minutes for delivery, was devoted almost wholly to the League of Nations.

American isolation, he said, ended twenty years ago at the close of the war with Spain. Fear of American motives now also had ended, he declared.

All Nations Look to America

"The only question," he said, "is whether we can refuse the moral leadership that is offered us, whether we shall accept or reject the confidence of the world."

The war and the peace conference, in his opinion, he said, had already answered that question, "and nothing but our mistaken action can alter it."

Demand to Destroy Old Order

After the end of the great war, he said, "every enlightened judgment demanded that, at whatever cost of independence, every government that took thought for its people, or for justice, or for ordered freedom should lend itself to a new purpose and utterly destroy the old order of international politics."

League Only Hope

Statesmen might see difficulties in accomplishing this purpose, he continued, but the people could see none and could brook no denial. The League of Nations, he added, was "not merely an instrument to adjust and remedy old wrongs under a new treaty of peace, it was the only hope for mankind."

Ovation for President

President Wilson was given an ovation when he entered the senate chamber and when he concluded the reading of his address, but he was not interrupted during the reading. Senators, diplomats and crowded galleries followed him closely.

Formally Presents Treaty

After concluding his address, he formally presented the treaty to the senate and the official copy was immediately referred to the foreign relations committee and rushed to the printer in order that it might be in senators' hands in the shortest possible time. Fifty thousand copies of the treaty and the president's address were ordered printed by the senate.

The "most skeptical" of the peace conferes at Paris, the president said had turned more and more to the league as discussion progressed in seeking solution of the problems that arose in framing the terms of the treaty itself.

Covenant First Agreed Upon

"The fact that the covenant of the league was the first substantive part of the treaty to be worked out and agreed upon while all else was in solution," the president said "helped to make the formulation of the rest easier."

He said the agreement on the covenant had given the conferes a feeling that their work was to be permanent and that the most practical among them "were at last the most ready to refer to the League of Nations the superintendence of all in which did not admit of immediate determination of all administrative problems which were to require a continuing oversight."

"What had seemed a counsel of perfection," he said, "had come to seem a plain counsel of necessity. The League of Nations was the practical statesman's hope of success in many of the most difficult things he was attempting."

Full Text of President Wilson's Speech in Presenting Treaty and League to Senate Today

WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Wilson in presenting the peace treaty and the League of Nations to the senate today spoke as follows: Gentlemen of the Senate: The treaty of peace with Germany was signed at Versailles on the twenty-eighth of June. I avail myself of the earliest opportunity to lay the treaty before you for ratification and to inform you with regard to the work of the conference by which that treaty was formulated.

World Settlement
The treaty constitutes nothing less than a world settlement. It would not be possible for me either to summarize or to construe its manifold provisions in an address much less than necessary to something less than a treatise. My services and all the information I possess will be at your disposal and at the disposal of your committee on foreign relations at any time, either informally or in session as you may prefer, and I hope that you will not hesitate to make use of them. I shall at this time, prior to your own study of the document attempt only a general characterization of its scope and purpose.

Part United States Took in Peace
In one sense, no doubt, there is no need that I should report to you what was attempted and done at Paris. You have been daily cognizant of what was going on there—of the problems with which the peace conference had to deal and of the difficulty of laying down straight lines of settlement anywhere on a field on which the old lines of international relationship, and the new alike, followed so intricate a pattern and were for the most part cut so deep by historical circumstances, which dominated action where it would have been best to ignore or reverse them. The cross currents of politics and of interest must have been evident to you. It would be presuming in me to attempt to explain the questions which arose or the many diverse elements that entered into them. I shall attempt something less ambitious than that and more clearly suggested by my duty to report to the congress the part it seemed necessary for my colleagues and me to play as the representatives of the government of the United States.

$100 BONUS BY STATE N. E. BASEBALL LEAGUE LISTON PLUCKY OFFICER

Arrangements Made Whereby Lowell Men May Obtain Applications in This City

Mayor Perry D. Thompson announced this afternoon that he will give his full attention and as much of his time as is necessary in making it possible for Lowell service men to obtain application blanks for the securing of the $100 bonus the state of Massachusetts has voted to pay her soldiers and sailors, without going into Boston for them.

Mayor Thompson enthusiastically received the suggestion made by The Sun, that he take charge of this work and he will throw open the old council chamber at city hall to accommodate the men. The application blanks will not be ready for distribution in Boston before Tuesday of next week, but The Sun has made arrangements whereby several thousand will be sent to Lowell immediately thereafter and Mayor Thompson's improvised office will be ready to operate the moment they arrive.

Unless some person had taken charge of this distribution in Lowell it would have been necessary for all local persons entitled to the bonus to make a special trip to Boston to secure the application blanks, but the arrangement suggested and eagerly accepted today will obviate this expenditure of time and money.

Full information regarding the procedure necessary in obtaining the blanks will be published in this paper several times before the applications are ready for distribution. Mayor Thompson will gather together a staff of men and women to take charge of the work and they will be more than willing to give out any information regarding the proper method of filling out the applications.

This Is Not an Obituary, But the Undertaker Is Just 'Round the Corner

Chaos reigns in the ranks of the N. E. baseball league and Bolshevik propaganda has so far undermined the supports of the organization as to threaten its very existence. The trouble which has been brewing (and trouble is about the only thing which is being brewed these days), came to a head in Lewiston this week when the former owners pulled stakes and left the club in that city without a guiding hand or pocket-book.

President Donnelly of Lowell, who was in Portland, covered the 35 miles to Lewiston in record time and attempted to bind up the wounds. He succeeded in as far as continuing the scheduled games during the week, but now comes the announcement that unless the necessary backing and patronage be forthcoming in Lewiston before Sunday the league will drop Lowell and Lawrence, distribute the players of these two clubs among the other four in the circuit and continue the league with Portland, Lewiston, Fitchburg and Haverhill as members.

A conference between Lewiston players and President Donnelly was held last night and the plan devised would strengthen the Lewiston team through the acquisition of Clark, Weaver and Bessie, while Fitchburg would draw on the remaining Lowell players and the Lawrence club, the league head.

TO CONCLUDE PEACE AT ONCE

Italian Premier Says Negotiations Will Be Rushed—To Lower Prices
Government Intends To Maintain Order With Firmness—Troops Called

ROME, Wednesday, July 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The Italian government intends to maintain order with firmness and without hesitation or weakness, according to Francesco Nitti, the premier, speaking before parliament today. He said it was planned to hasten negotiations so that peace could be concluded at once, with the upholding of Italian national aspirations.

Rapid transportation is to be made from a war to a peace footing and what was rendered necessary by the conflict and has become superfluous, and indeed, harmful, in peace, will be abolished.

The bitter condition of the people will be alleviated by the government, which is aiming to lower prices without which, he said, "it is impossible to guarantee social peace."

The chamber of labor has issued a manifesto saying that, having received guarantees that the prices of goods will be reduced 50 per cent it invites the people to return to work.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

It has been said that there is now hardly a city, town or village in this country wherein some woman does not reside who has found health in that good, old-fashioned remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore, if you are suffering from some ailment, and hardly know what to do for it, and have tried other remedies without help, ask your neighbor if she has ever used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If she herself has never had the need for it, undoubtedly she knows others who were just in your condition and who have been restored to health by its use.—Adv.

FACTS

Prices on wearing apparel are going sky high, BUT my way of buying with my small overhead expenses puts me in a position to underbid anybody at a better low price or how small a store. In the past I have managed to give the best quality of merchandise for the lowest possible prices. With your assistance and doing the volume of business which I do I intend to continue with the lowest prices possible. Time and space do not permit me to itemize articles and prices. readiness and strong contingents of troops occupy the principal points in the city, the government buildings and the banks, while armored cars and machine gun crews patrol the different quarters.

Premier Nitti remained until the early morning at the ministry of the interior, to be certain that his instructions were carried out. The proclamation of a general strike coincides with the reopening of parliament yesterday afternoon.

During the morning mobs attacked several shops, because the shopkeepers refused to sell at low prices; otherwise there were no serious complications. The chamber of labor has proclaimed a general strike as from midnight Tuesday, as a sign of protest against the police and military measures adopted by the government to prevent further disorders. The chamber of labor maintains that these measures were adopted to prevent the lowering of the price of necessities, as demanded by the people.

During this morning the strike was not quite general, because only the people of Rome published last night the decision of the chamber of labor to call a strike.

The food shops were crammed with people today buying provisions in the fear of being caught with scanty supplies.

The Popolo Romano, commenting on the situation, says that as Taranto is still in the war zone the maintenance of order in the city has been entrusted to soldiers, who have proclaimed a state of siege. Immediately thereafter, the newspaper declares, the riots ceased as if by magic. It asserts that if the same action had been taken everywhere all the disorders would have been over by now.

Premier Nitti in a speech before parliament today urged that the peace negotiations be concluded and that friendly relations with the allies, especially France, be maintained.

The premier lawminded the deputies that all efforts should be made to re-establish the country on a peace footing, lower the prices of necessities and bring about orderly conditions throughout Italy.

Going to Adriatic

PARIS, Wednesday, July 9.—Major General Charles P. Summerall and other members of the commission appointed to investigate the trouble between allied troops and Italians at Fiume, will confer with the supreme council of the peace conference tomorrow, and will leave immediately afterward for the Adriatic.

James Shaffer of Uniontown, Penn., struck a foreigner who made disloyal remarks and was fined $10, but the money was paid by ten members of the local Christian church, who on their way home happened to stop in the burgess' office. Each of the men plunked $1 down on the desk of the official and the case was closed.

MOVIE HERO SUN WRITER

Bill Hart, Screen Champion, in Series of Heart to Heart Talks With Lowell Boys

BY BILL HART,
Noted Movie Hero, Who is Writing a Series of Articles for Boys

American boys!—You are the most ambitious boys in the whole world. Ambition is your middle name.

Be sure your ambition is laudable; then fasten your teeth in it and hang on like a bulldog. If your ambition isn't laudable it is a false idea. Drop it like you would a hot potato because it is like a bad horse—it is liable to go over backwards without warning. And, when it does it hurts.

Unfortunately, some boys get off on the wrong foot. But remember, it is never too late to start over again.

Ambition is not conceit. The greatest men in the world have been the most ambitious. Otherwise, they would never have become leaders of men. I wouldn't give two bits for a boy who didn't have ambition to spare.

You may be ambitious and not get anywhere near the goal of success. You must have initiative. In the west where I was raised a boy had to have enough sense to get it alone. Make yourself self-reliant. Then when you get into a tight place you will know how to get out. In other words:

Act first and talk afterwards. Every real American ought to aspire to be the best in the game whether it's playing baseball, working at a trade, busting broncos, or—fighting Huns.

Boys, don't be lazy. Ambition and initiative are made of sterner stuff. With these qualifications you can gain success.

(Signed) BILL HART.

NO SUGAR SHORTAGE

War Department To Sell
21,000,000 Pounds to American Public

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The sale of 21,000,000 pounds of surplus sugar now held by the war department has been authorized, it was announced at a minimum price to be fixed by the United States sugar equalization board to cover the cost to the government. The only condition of sale will be that none of this stock may be exported. Investigation having shown that the principal shortage at present is in states east of the Mississippi, efforts will be made to find purchasers in that section.

The stocks comprise 11,000,000 pounds in storage at New Orleans and 7,000,000 pounds at San Francisco.

"The export market afforded a higher figure than the war department will realize through this method of marketing," the announcement said. "Of-

Praises Tonic That Restored Her to Health

Rhode Island Woman Says Confidence in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Was Justified

A tonic that strengthens, that revives the appetite, brings color to the cheeks and revitalizes the nerves is what many tired women need to restore them to the normal condition of activity and attractiveness. Mrs. Beatrice Stott, of No. 56 Watson street, Central Falls, R. I., relates her experience with such a tonic as follows:

"I had a severe attack of pleurisy that left me in a terribly run-down condition. My blood was thin, I had lost my appetite, was poor and I had but little strength. I had severe pains in my side and my rest was broken at times from nervousness. I tried different preparations but the medicine did not seem to help me.

"I had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when I lived in England and finally decided to give them a trial. After the first box I was much better and I noticed an improvement in my appetite. I continued to use the pills and they gave me more strength. I used three boxes altogether and the results were so satisfactory that I have recommended the pills to others. I have faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and am glad to say a word of praise for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

fers of 10 cents per pound have been made for the entire surplus by exporters, but the secretary of war, realizing that a shortage of sugar existed in the United States during the canning season, desired that the American public be given the benefit of the surplus."

AMERICANS MUST HAVE JOBS FIRST, GOMPERS

NEW YORK, July 10.—Opposition of the American Federation of Labor to unrestricted immigration during the next four years is based largely on a desire to checkmate "a combination of corporations, trusts and shipping companies" to bring immigrants to the United States under contracts which made them virtually "slaves to these trusts," Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, declared in an address before the Pan-American Federation of Labor here last night.

Mr. Gompers' address was in response to a resolution adopted at the day session, inquiring why the federation had taken a stand on immigration at its Atlantic City convention "which conflicts with the conclusions of the first congress of the Pan-American Federation of Labor held at Laredo, Tex."

The second reason, Mr. Gompers asserted, was the fact that four million American soldiers were being returned to industry and that the federation's duty was "to so adjust our affairs that the Americans shall have the right to a job before anyone who may come here from another country."

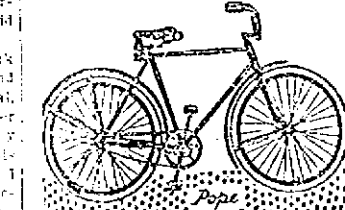

Discussing the alleged "combination," Mr. Gompers said:

"The contracts which these industrial trusts and corporations had with those people were of such a character that the people were for years slaves to these trusts. Persons who observed vessels coming into this country could see the immigrants, with nothing more than a little box, herded into trains and taken to factories, stockyards, steel plants and other industrial establishments.

papers of other countries that they wanted men, but did not want American workers."

Mr. Gompers asserted that the federation had been trying for years to organize workers in the packing and iron and steel industries, but had met little success, because "there men had been kept in bondage and have been allowed only their own language newspapers, which taught them they should hate the American labor movement and not join it."

Mr. Gompers added that a period of non-immigration would materially aid American campaign to Americanize all her inhabitants.

"This is a critical time, a crucial time, a time unprecedented on the globe," Mr. Gompers continued, "and it simply means we must protect ourselves or be overwhelmed. The standards we have raised for American workers are not going to give up to the greed and rapacity of employers, nor are we going to have them undermined by overwhelming numbers of immigrants. When this critical period is past, America can again become the home of those who voluntarily come to make homes and to live according to our standards. We will extend the hand of welcome to those who come in that spirit."

Thin People Need Bitro- Phosphate

Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances

Take plain bitro-phosphate is the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arteries, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by A. W. Dows in Lowell and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Georgia Hamilton, the wonderful "macie" who was once thin and frail, says: "Bitro-Phosphate brought about the magic transformation. I gained 15 pounds and never before felt so well."

plying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Clinical tests made in St. Catherine's hospital, N. Y. C., showed that two patients, respectively, through the administration of organic phosphate, both patients claim they have not felt so strong and well for the past twelve years.

Physicians and hospitals everywhere are now recognizing its merits by its use in ever increasing quantities. Frederick Kolbe, M.D., editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says: "Bitro-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital to increase strength and nerve force and to enrich the blood."

Joseph D. Harrison, former visiting specialist in North Eastern Dispensary, says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anemic, or run-down, take a natural, unadulterated substance such as bitro-phosphate and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance."

Bitro-Phosphate is made entirely of the organic phosphate compound recommended in the National Standard Dispensary as being an excellent tonic and nerve and a preparation which has recently acquired considerable reputation in the treatment of neurasthenia. The standard of excellence is beyond question, for every Bitro-Phosphate tablet is manufactured in strict accordance with the U. S. Pharmacopoeia test requirements. Bitro-phosphate is therefore not a patent medicine and should not be confused with one of the secret nostrums, so-called "tonics" or "wonder cures" of the day.

CAUTION—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Adv.

Serathol Is Fine

For Indigestion

Says Dr. Parrish

Since the publication of Dr. Edward Parrish's recommendation of ordinary serathol for indigestion, gas, acidity and dyspepsia, it has won instant favor with scores of dyspeptics all over the country.

When you have that "big lump in the stomach" (feeling or heaving gas or bad breath from an upset stomach), just take a little ordinary serathol, wait one minute by the watch and you'll probably say what others have said: "Serathol works like magic." At any rate, it is perfectly harmless, pleasant to take and can be obtained at trifling cost from A. W. Dows in Lowell and all first class druggists.—Adv.

When this critical period is past, America can again become the home of those who voluntarily come to make homes and to live according to our standards. We will extend the hand of welcome to those who come in that spirit."

Mr. Gompers' address was in response to a resolution adopted at the day session, inquiring why the federation had taken a stand on immigration at its Atlantic City convention "which conflicts with the conclusions of the first congress of the Pan-American Federation of Labor held at Laredo, Tex."

The second reason, Mr. Gompers asserted, was the fact that four million American soldiers were being returned to industry and that the federation's duty was "to so adjust our affairs that the Americans shall have the right to a job before anyone who may come here from another country."

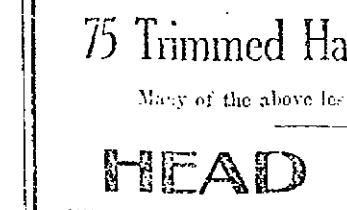

Discussing the alleged "combination," Mr. Gompers said:

"The contracts which these industrial trusts and corporations had with those people were of such a character that the people were for years slaves to these trusts. Persons who observed vessels coming into this country could see the immigrants, with nothing more than a little box, herded into trains and taken to factories, stockyards, steel plants and other industrial establishments.

"To such a pass did that situation come that the trust magnates would advertise in American newspapers and

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Street Car Jumps Track on Overhead Bridge—Motorman Acts Promptly

Three men had a narrow escape from death or serious injury when an out-of-control street car jumped the track while running over the overhead bridge at Boylston and Center streets, at 5:15 o'clock last evening, crashing the fence to the left of the bridge and bringing up with the forward part of the car overhanging a 20-foot drop. The cause of the derailment is unknown. Railroad officials said today that had the car gone a bare six inches farther nothing could have saved it from toppling over.

The car was running at a slow rate of speed when the accident occurred and the motorman, Thomas Murphy, made a remarkable stop, as the brakes were rendered almost useless when the car jumped the track. There was one passenger on the car at the time. The conductor on the car was Sam Parlee. The wrecking crew was called out, but were unable to raise the car until well after midnight.

SEIZE WINES AND BEER AT NANTASKET

BOSTON, July 10.—Raids by agents of the department of justice on the hitherto immune oasis at Nantasket, and the discovery that seized wines and beers on analysis showed an alcoholic content in some cases as high as 4 per cent, marked an active day in the fight between the local federal authorities and the liquor interests on the prohibition issue.

Nantasket dealers, who were pleased Tuesday when Boston's reopening drew them out of the calcium glare, may be haled into court as soon as the beers and wines secured by the raiding department of justice agents are analyzed, Assistant United States District Attorney Lewis E. Goldberg said last night.

BIG INCREASE IN STATE TAX APPORTIONMENT

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 10.—A lead protest is likely to be made by legislators from the industrial centers of the state when they learn how hard their respective municipalities have been hit in the new apportionment of the state tax, which is to be effective for the next three years.

Under the new apportionment, practically every industrial city or town is required to pay a much larger share of the state tax, while nearly every community which has been known as a "tax dodgers' paradise" will pay a greatly reduced share.

For example, of each $1000 of the state tax Fall River will be obliged to pay $26.54, instead of $22.62 as in the past three years; New Bedford, $27.65 instead of $23.31; Lawrence, $19.32 instead of $16.82; Worcester, $14.40 instead of $13.62; Lowell, $21.32 instead of $18.99; North Adams, $3.21 instead of $3.54; Haverhill, $10.70 instead of $9.56; Brockton, $13.55 instead of $12.25; and others in smaller amounts. Pittsfield alone of the industrial centers shows a slight decrease, from $5.65 to $5.51.

While the act establishing the new basis of apportionment has not actually been passed as yet, it seems improbable that it can be defeated, as existing law specifically provides how it shall be made up, and the law has been carefully followed in the new bill.

It presents, however, an extremely anomalous situation. When the income tax was being discussed several years ago, prior to its passage, it was contended that certain cities and towns had extremely low tax rates because of the ownership, within their borders, of large amounts of stocks and bonds, and one of the arguments for the income tax was that it would tend to equalize tax rates. Now, however, it appears that these same cities and towns are to get a lower rate on the state tax because they have lost the right to tax these same stocks and bonds. As it was expressed today, they had a low local rate because they had these large blocks of intangible property to tax, and now they get a lower state rate because they have lost the right to tax them.

As a matter of fact, however, the tax is worked out in an entirely logical manner. In years gone by most of the richer cities and towns taxed only a portion of their intangible property, and while they succeeded in getting a low local tax rate, the tax commissioner did not accept their valuation figures for making up the state tax, but based it upon what he believed to be their proper valuation. The effect of this was to make the state tax rate for such cities and towns out of proportion to the local rate. Now that the intangibles are taxed directly by the state, the state tax is based upon the valuations fixed by local assessors, and naturally the places where valuations are relatively low obtain an advantage.

The figures for cities and towns in the vicinity of Lowell are as follows:

	Old Basis	New Basis
Bedford	$ 0.44	$ 0.39
Billerica	1.09	1.28
Chelmsford	1.91	1.11
Dracut	3.36	3.08
Lowell	18.99	21.32
Tewksbury	.48	.54
Windsor	.15	.18
Westford	.37	.31

Some of the "lucky" municipalities, with big decreases in their apportionments, are:

Palmouth, from $3.09 to $1.37; Orleans, from $1.62 to $1; Easton, from $2.12 to $9c; Hamilton, from $1.20 to $1c; Manchester, from $3.97 to $2.27; Nahant, from $1.95 to $1c; Westford, from $1.93 to $9c; Brookline, from $30.30 to $17.56; Dover, from $1.62 to $5c; Milton, from $6.55 to $3.75; Welleley, from $3.85 to $2.97; Marlon, from $1.35 to $5c; and Hopedale, from $1.16 to $1.10.

JOHNSON CONTINUES ATTACK ON LEAGUE

PORTLAND, Me., July 10.—United States Senator Hiram Johnson, speaking at city hall last night in opposition to the League of Nations covenant, declared that the league is written around the one central idea, that the democracy of the United States shall guarantee and preserve the boundaries of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

"American fathers and mothers want peace," said the senator, "and they want a League of Nations which will give them peace. Ask any American mother in Kansas or Illinois or California if she is for peace. She will say "Yes" with all her heart. Ask her if she is willing that her son and her grandsons shall go to the Balkans, to China, to Korea, to Siberia, to Arabia, to the Dalmatian coast, to Poland, to compel peace. She will answer just as promptly "No."

"This League of Nations, with the men who really wrote it, was meant to obtain peace insofar as peace means the ending forever of their territorial and their subject peoples; and it was meant that this kind of peace should be obtained by the exercise of the power and the force of the United States."

Devoting himself for a time to the demands of those champions of the proposed league covenant who he said have been clamoring for constructive criticisms, the senator asserted that if the authors of the document had honestly intended self-determination of peoples, if they had really been interested in preventing war rather than safeguarding territorial gains, they would have instituted through the League of Nations a referendum vote of the people on all declarations of war in every nation or nation.

Senator Johnson asserted that it was unthinkable that any American would subscribe to it. He described the amendment to the league covenant alleged to be designed to safeguard the Monroe doctrine as "A fraud, a delusion and a snare."

BILLERICA NEWS

At a recent meeting of the board of selectmen of the town of Billerica it was voted to prepare a detailed and complete report of the welcome home celebration for the soldiers and sailors held recently in the town and the following committee was appointed to gather up the data and have it printed in pamphlet form: Dr. A. Warren Stearns, Everett S. Bull and Thomas F. Sheridan.

In the course of the meeting the legacy left to the town some time ago under the terms of the will of the late Caroline Haynes Jenkins to erect a drinking fountain in memory of her parents, was officially received and turned over to the treasurer. The gift amounts to $1000. Martin McMahon, John J. Forbes, James H. Sheridan and Robert O'Connell were appointed special officers.

NORTH BILLERICA

At a recent meeting of the members of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence society of North Billerica, the following officers were inducted into office for the ensuing term: President, John F. Trainor; vice president, Charles Lyons; recording secretary, Charles McNulty; financial secretary, James Condon; treasurer, Arthur L. Mahoney; marshal, B. W. Kearney; literary committee, F. J. McNulty, Owen Flynn, John J. Lyons; board of examiners, Thomas Higgins, Richard Condon and Joseph Collins.

Five thousand chickens from the poultry farm of G. R. Fisher, near Hope, have practically put an end to army worms in Bartholomew, Ind. When the worms appeared in multitudes, Mr. Fisher turned his chickens on them, and they ate the worms as fast as they arrived. Thus far, they seem to thrive on the fare.

PNEUMATIC TUBES WAR SHIP MESSENGERS

Many incidents of the world war as it unfolded to take in all of the civilized world and grew in magnitude and frightfulness reflected back upon this city and that upon one industry and another as the need for additional fighting implements became more acute. The huge war machines of the opposing nations were still in an immature stage when the armistice came to eventually bring peace and Lowell may well claim a helping part in this development of modern warfare.

It is common knowledge the part the United States Cartridge Co. took in the waging of the conflict at home and abroad, but there is another chapter in Lowell's book of war which has not been written.

On May 31, 1916, the most important naval battle of the war took place on the high seas off Jutland between the British and German grand fleets and, although Germany prematurely claimed a victory and celebrated in schoolboy fashion, its fleet retired to port and never again ventured out to challenge. As Jellicoe and Beatty maneuvered their battle cruisers in the darkening mists of the North sea, America learned one of its many war time lessons and the finger of fate again pointed to far off Lowell.

In the Jutland battle it was conclusively proven that written messages conveyed to their destinations on board the destroyers through pneumatic tubes were the only ones which were infallible. The telephone between engine room and bridge went out of action and the speaking tube was rendered useless in the din, but the pneumatic tube carried the inclusive orders without a hitch and once and for all time won a place in the sun.

America heard and learned her lesson well and almost immediately thereafter the Lamson Co. of Lowell received an order from the United States government to experiment upon a small type of pneumatic tube for use on our own destroyers. This is the result. Today practically every destroyer in the United States navy is equipped with a Lamson pneumatic tube, running from engine room to bridge. The experiments terminated when a 1 1/2 inch tube was developed and pronounced good by Washington. Installation followed.

This is the smallest tube manufactured by the Lamson Co., but the sizes run up to three and four inches for battleship communication uses and even larger for the pneumatic lifting of large rifle ammunition from magazine to gun breech. The ammunition lifter is still another story. The Lamson Co. has installed these pneumatic hoists on the battle cruisers Massachusetts and New Jersey. The tube on the Massachusetts is eight inches in diameter and those on the New Jersey, eight and ten inches. The shell and powder load are put into the tube in the magazine and air shoots them to the gun breech just as easily as your office carrier travels through the tube which leads to the shipping room.

On the U. S. S. Massachusetts, the vertical lift from magazine to gun turret is 34 feet, yet each load of an eight-inch shell weighing 62 pounds and two bags of powder, each weighing 24 pounds, is whisked up to the gun crew in two and one-half seconds, before the waiting hands of the crew. The 110-pound "carrier" is deposited almost instantaneously after being slipped into the tube in the magazine, and yet with all this speed in travel it comes to a stop without a jar. As the load leaves the tube and loses the impelling force of the compression, friction in the remaining few feet slows it down to a nicely, and stops it where desired.

Before America's official entry into the war the Lamson Company had installed gravity conveyors in arsenals, loading plants and quartermaster supply houses. This gravity conveyor is one of the most successful of the more recent Lamson inventions and has saved the government thousands of dollars and thousands of minutes. It is built of steel rolls, ball bearing at each end, and the entire system is set up on a slight incline. In 25 or 50 feet the incline is so gradual as to almost defy perception, but in a longer system the drop is more noticeable. The steel rolls are concave in shape to conform to different sizes of shells, varying from three to 12 inches and spin speedily on the least rotating touch. Practically all of the big arsenals and loading plants in the country used these conveyors for the rapid transportation of shells throughout the buildings of Gillespie Loading Co. of New Jersey, whose plant was wrecked by an explosion, being one in which they were universally used.

John E. Chandler of Dighton, who is 75 years old, has made an express wagon, including the wheels and every bit of woodwork, without help, excepting that George H. Brown of Westville, blacksmith, did all the ironwork. In making the wagon Mr. Chandler used nearly every kind of wood.

IRISH HOME RULE IS AGAIN SUSPENDED

DUBLIN, July 10.—The proposed inquiry into the possibilities of federalism for the whole United Kingdom, it is believed here in well informed circles, will be furthered by the government. It is said that such an inquiry would furnish a breathing spell during which the act suspending the Irish home rule bill would be further extended.

Two proposals looking to the examination in parliament of federalism or something akin to it, have been made recently. The house of commons on June 4, after a debate of two days, adopted a resolution favoring the appointment of a parliamentary committee to examine and report upon the creation of subordinate legislatures. A second suggestion, along this line, was made on July 4 in the house of commons by Maj. Waldorf Astor who announced that a committee would be set up to make a full inquiry into the whole problem of legislative evolution in the United Kingdom.

The Irish home rule act, passed May 25, 1914, never became effective. It was put on the statute books but it was suspended during the war by an act adopted Sept. 16.

BUYS 40,000,000 YARDS OF AIRPLANE LINEN

LONDON. (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Leonard J. Martin, a young English business man who deals in agricultural machinery, has bought for $20,000,000 from the British government about forty million yards of linen which was intended for making airplanes. He knew nothing about linen, but bought for speculation.

Martin is 37 years old and began his career, he says, with a capital of about $500.

The stock of material Martin now controls represents three years' normal supply. He is reckoning on a profit of about $5,000,000. Of that amount $2,000,000 would go to the British treasury in excess profits and another $1,200,000 in stamp tax.

The name of the steamship Afel, launched at Hog Island, is the code word for the American Federation of Labor, in honor of which the vessel was christened.

Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trademark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has been manufactured continuously for over thirty years."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Bringing Up Baby.

When Adam ate the Apple we heard nothing about its effect on his stomach, but we do know, or ought to know, about the effect of all eatables given our children. This knowledge is necessary to all mothers, and the deaths among infants indicate that much information along this line is needed.

On this subject many works have been published, but most of them so technical and complicated as to be unintelligible to the lay mind. Food, hygiene and proper clothing must be learned by all mothers—they must study them, know them. Do you?

Around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria is a booklet in plain, everyday language that all can understand, put there by the advice and approval of physicians. Will you read it?

Fletcher's Castoria has been in use so many years that it is a waste of words to praise it, but because of the many substitutes and imitations we endeavor to protect the babies by keeping before the public the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and a copy of the wrapper. It is your only safeguard.

CEMETERY HELP ASK 35 PER CENT RAISE

Employees of the public cemeteries department who now receive from $3 to $3.50 per day petitioned the cemetery commission at its meeting late yesterday afternoon for a general increase of 35 per cent. The commission took no action on the matter.

The matter of securing additional land for public cemetery purposes was discussed at length with several sites mentioned, one of them being 17 acres belonging to E. A. Bartlett, contiguous to the Westlawn cemetery and the other a piece of land beyond Third avenue about 50 by 600 feet. It was finally voted to have Chairman Rigby confer with the mayor on the proposition.

Mrs. Margaret K. Reardon, for the past 12 years a clerk in the cemetery department, offered her resignation to accept a position as teacher in the local schools. The resignation was accepted.

REDS SUPPORT SALLIE AND BEAT BRAVES

Cincinnati gave Sallie brilliant support yesterday and the Reds made it two out of three thus far in the series by winning, 3 to 1. A pass to Brescia in the fifth, Winco's triple and a wild throw by Fletcher McQuinn gave Cincinnati two runs, the winning margin. Cross fielded sensationally. Pittsburgh shut out Brooklyn yesterday, 2 to 0. Babe Adams allowed only six hits and was in danger only once in the seventh inning, when Grutts and Myers singled with one out. Kometich, however, popped to Mott and Mitchell, batting for Kilguff, fanned.

BLACKBURN SOLD TO THE PHILLIES

Russell Blackburn, utility infielder of the Boston Braves, was yesterday sold to the Philadelphia club. Pres. Grant announced that it was an "all-time" deal for a cash consideration. Blackburn is a pretty good ball player, but the Boston management thought he would be of more value to the club as a utility man than Blackburn. The latter has all along wanted to be with some club on which he would have some chance of playing every day. "I would rather play regularly on the Medicine Hat club," said Russell last spring, "than be a bench warmer on a major league club." He is particularly well pleased to go to Philadelphia as his home is not far from that city.

ADVERTISING DRINKS

There is probably never was a time when so good a chance existed to expand the soft drink business, as today.

The most useful and to be expected this business in which there is a chance to make a profit of a large amount. The local business is probably the best of its kind in the country. It is a good name, the next thing, assuming that the quality and price are right, is to have prospective patrons become acquainted with the drink through sampling. They must know the taste of it before they will call for it at the soda fountain. The next step, the least expensive and the surest way to increase your temperance drink and its name to the public is by advertising it in

Judging from the various campaign utterances of republican leaders, it appears that they have no intention of giving serious thought to the work of reconstruction before next year, when the national campaign will absorb the attention of the people.

The republicans are now in control of congress and although they bitterly criticized the democratic administration, their empty policies are much more open to criticism than have been those of their opponents. They have not as yet taken any action towards restoring the railroads to the private owners and perfecting a system of control that will give the country a satisfactory service at a reasonable cost. Indeed, it would appear that the republicans are designedly evading this question for political reasons.

It appears also that they have not taken any practical steps towards putting our new merchant marine into active operation. If they would adopt some practical business policy to aid the industries of the country in getting back to normal conditions, they would thereby offer something for the merchant marine to do and might thus enable the manufacturers of the country to meet the demand from abroad not only for raw material, but for manufactured products.

Thus far, the republicans in congress have done little more than keep up a sort of guerilla warfare against the administration and against the ratification of the League of Nations, for the reason that it is largely the work of President Wilson.

The republicans will soon find themselves discredited if they continue to devote practically all their time to politics instead of to business. The nation demands relief from the lack of employment and from the excessively high cost of living. Thus far, there has been no attempt made by republicans to offer aid or relief in either direction. Should this course be pursued for another year by the party in control of congress, the result will certainly be very serious. We are confident, however, that President Wilson will endeavor to have congress drop the vain and futile bickerings of politics and turn its attention to the vital issues of the hour.

HUSH!

Hush! Don't say a word! Listen to the terrible things that Congressman Graham brings to light against the administration and more particularly against President Wilson himself. Just think of it, the president organized a "Council of National Defense" which planned all the war measures before war was declared. The council laid out the work for congress. Ye gods and little fishes, has it come to this that the president of the United States should so far forget himself as to plan ahead for the safety of the nation.

Why, did why did he not go to the G.O.P. leaders for hints and leading to Lodge and Borah and Penrose? There's political capital for you; just the thing the leaders have been hunting for during several months to the neglect of the nation's business, the railroad problems and the unemployed millions.

In their lack of political vision, the republicans charge the council of national defense, authorized by congress, with conducting a secret government of the United States.

It is now in order to drop the Rooseveltian charge of unpreparedness and launch the other and more serious charge of preparing for war when there was no war and even outliving every measure afterwards adopted by congress. Now then, let the muckrakers get busy and stir up this new discovery that President Wilson seriously, anxiously, but intelligently fore-planned the campaign that won the war even before war was declared!

It is so unusual to find a constructive statesman at work in the United States that this particular "offense" must be held up to public condemnation by the republican inquisitors as a gross violation of the conventionalities and particularly of the customs established by the ephemeral politicians of the republican party.

Drive home the charge against Wilson as a violation of law. Something must be devised to smirch his reputation in the eyes of the American people so as to help get the hungry army of G.O.P. politicians back into power.

Bravo, Mr. Graham!

GETTING THE BIG HEAD

Matters throughout the country report a shortage in their stocks of large size hats and a surplus of small sizes. Their orders for the spring and summer trade were based on the accepted proportion of sizes but somehow, they say, the small sizes do not sell in the way they should and the large sizes sell as hot cakes are supposed to.

They have studied the situation and are at a loss for a satisfactory explanation. Men who generally wear a seven now find a 7 1-8 necessary, and the former 7 1-8 man must have a 7 1-8 stretched or take a 7 1-4. As for the 7 1-4 man, they cannot be comfortable with anything less than a 7 3-8.

If the change in the size of men's heads was confined to soldiers, hat makers say, they would be inclined to believe victory or life in the open had made the cranium of the doughboy swell a bit, but it is the same with many civilians.

Not only that, but in London the hat makers have had the same experience as the Americans. There, if anything, the demand for larger sizes has been more pronounced than here.

If you ask a Frenchman to explain any latter day phenomena he will answer, "C'est la guerre." So far, no reports in regard to the size of hats have come from the German hat makers. "C'est la guerre."

THE PRESIDENT'S RETURN

It is noticeable from the picture of President Wilson on landing at Hoboken, that he did not wear his customary smile. The president realizes that although he has had busy times in Europe, he has still to go through a period of strenuous effort in convincing the people that it is for the best interests of this country and of humanity to ratify the peace treaty, including the League of Nations.

In his speech at Carnegie hall in New York, the president expressed the belief that the peace is a just one and that if it can be preserved, it will save the world from bloodshed and future wars. He seems to be assured that the American people will rally to the support of the treaty and the covenant with such enthusiasm as will result in ratification by the senate. On this point he will find strong opposition from the republican party, although many leading republicans are in favor of ratifying the treaty without change.

We are to have a campaign of education in regard to the treaty and in this President Wilson undoubtedly stands as the leading authority. Whether he will succeed in securing the ratification of the treaty, however, remains to be seen.

EATING MORE BEEF

The department of agriculture advises the people to eat more meat, stating that there is now a need of the conservation that was practised during the war. That should be welcome news to most people if the prices in so very many cases did not still offer an obstacle to the free use of meat. It should be remembered by the department that the high prices that rule the market continue to make conservation in the use of beef and other meat products almost as important as during the war. The government has on hand millions of pounds of meat put up for the use of the army. It has offered to sell these by the carload to municipalities which, however, are not free to engage in such enterprises. The government can easily find a means of distributing this supply of canned beef to cities where it would prove highly beneficial in checking the extortion practised by the profiteers. It is not too much to expect that the federal officials shall distribute this meat so as to be obtainable by the people at a moderate cost. If the government should do so, at least some portion of the people might then be able to carry out the advice of the department of agriculture to use beef more liberally.

TIPPERARY

Apparently that London despatch telling of the alleged rebellious conditions in Tipperary, Ireland, may be taken with a very large pinch of salt, considering the fact that the government (British) authorities in Ireland are trying hard to justify their position and to counteract the statements published in this country by Messrs. Ryan, Dunne and Walsh, the Irish-American envoys to Paris. The government, in defense of its action in putting the Sinn Fein of Tipperary under the ban, alleges that a seditious circular was found upon a prisoner last February, decreeing death to obnoxious police officers. It is rather strange that this should be brought up in proof of the claim that present conditions in Tipperary are very bad. Yet, still more of this propaganda stuff may be expected from London, the aim being to turn American sentiment against the cause of Ireland.

Time was when pater familias after supper would say to the home circle in general, "Well, I think I'll go for a car ride and a smoke." Times change and importantly the price of little comforts. It costs dad a dime for his post supper car ride, and the cigar makers promise that the dime cigar hereafter is to cost 15 cents if the men now on strike win.

Lieut. Commander Lansdowne, U.S.N., a guest flier on the R-34, says he finds it is the habit of the weather to travel from west to east. There are some kinds of weather we would be glad to have travel from west to east just as fast as atmospheric conditions will permit.

Latest report has it that the Prince of Wales is not to visit Newport and be lionized. Perhaps he has been tipped off that those pretty American nurses with whom he danced do not usually spend their holidays at the "rich women's paradise."

"Put Fighting Blood Into Your Business," says a government poster exhorting employers to give returned service men a job, but it doesn't authorize the service man to fight his boss or his boss to fight him.

Most of us will conclude that Argentina, in voting unreservedly to enter the League of Nations, plays safe now as she did by her neutrality during the war.

Copper has advanced so that it sells at 20 cents per pound, but a pound of copper cents buys one-half less than a few years ago.

It is serious business now either to catch cold or to be bitten by a rattlesnake. Also for a lady to faint away.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The new timetable which went into effect on the Boston &amp; Maine road the first of the month is meeting with general approval by travelers between Lowell and Boston, according to comment I have heard about town. Two excellent express trains in the late afternoon from this city to Boston, running within 20 minutes of each other, are features especially appreciated locally. One leaves at 4 p.m. and arrives in the Hub 45 minutes later. The other leaves and reaches Boston at 5:05. Up to within a week or thereabouts to be an express at 4:15, but now leaves Lowell at 4:12. There is another express at 5:25 and another accommodation train at 5:30 so that late afternoon travel is fairly well taken care of. The only thing that can be asked now is that the express trains be on time. Several delays have already been noted. There is no more jovial fellow in my mind than a certain conductor on one of the local car lines who, despite the use of the so-much-talked-about "check register," is always happy. He may not like to handle the "check" but he does not show it, for a car with a smiling on his car I never had about me. Instead of the "check" (which, please), the following remarks "Get your dimes ready, please. Here you luck, ring the bell. It will only cost you ten cents and you are sure not to win, for Old Bill they say is in the corner every time. To get a better chance, for you are sure to get a good cause. You're next, ring the bell in the slot and see how loud you can ring the bell, I'll do the shouting and Big Bill will do the spending. All aboard."

Only one other city in the commonwealth, Boston, at the present time, has a larger number of mothers receiving financial aid under the provisions of the "mothers' pension" law than the case today in Lowell. This is established on the authority and statement of Martin H. Conley, superintendent of Lowell's municipal charities. At the present time Lowell has the honor and gratification of keeping on her list a number of 170 mothers, from seeking shelter and sustenance at the city's almshouse. Not only is this true but this number of mothers are being given the means to keep their little children with them and save them from the stigma of being inmates of an almshouse. Martin Conley, the hospital superintendent, says 170 is very nearly, if not quite, a record number for Lowell since the mothers' pension law went into effect some years ago. He credits this unprecedented number of dependent mothers to the terrible ravages of the flu last fall and winter. Thousands of citizens here have probably failed to recognize how much misfortune in the shape of taking away the breadwinner of scores of Lowell families, this disease was responsible for. There are a few scattering cases of men abandoning their wives and children but such cases are increasingly rare. With as much good business prevailing and plenty of work, men seem to be sticking by their families. It seems that Worcester and Cambridge come next to Lowell in the number of mothers being cared for under this law. Whether the disease claimed more poor fathers in this city than anywhere else in the state may be a conjecture, but the figures as given by Mr. Conley seem to warrant this belief.

Under the provisions of the Mothers' Pension law a mother must be a woman of good character and capable of taking care of her home in a clean and efficient manner, to be eligible for the weekly payments. She must not possess more than $200 on money nor more than a $500 equity in a piece of real estate. She may not buy any real estate while receiving payments under this law from the state. Supt. Conley, as executive head of the city's charities, has charge of disbursing these weekly payments to dependent mothers, being the final step that will be taken

Mrs. Katie May Baker, Washington, D. C., has filed suit for divorce alleging that while living with her husband they had not spoken to each other for five years. They have been married 15 years, and according to Mrs. Baker their matrimonial venture was divided into five-year periods, the first, "warm and loving"; the second, "cool with periodic quarrels"; and the third, "cold and mum."

John Barclay, cost man a good position on an Alabama daily round about the year 1911. I was assigned to cover a reception staged for the boss wife. This at 3 p.m. The reception was at 8. It was in the nature of a homecoming for Mrs. Boss. She was to deliver a woman's talk that she had given in Houston, Dallas, and other cities. Having plenty of time to spare, I visited with other co-workers at a beer-whiskey-poker session. We finished at 10:30. I bestirred myself, obtained old files of press arrangements for the event, and wrote the story. I was complimented highly by the city ed. But next afternoon he declined to inform me that the publisher's wife had refused a connection and failed to arrive. ## Pastor Passed On

A clergyman while passing through a street in Edinburgh came upon a rough-looking and gigantic coalman who was persuading his horse to move along more expeditiously. The horse had taken a stubborn fit, and the coalman was very excited and coaching his sentiments in language which was simply appalling.

The clergyman was a little man, but rash, for he rebuked the coalman in a manner that left absolutely nothing to be desired.

"I cannot understand," he said, in winding up his expostulation, "what you mean by using such harrowing expressions."

The rebuke was lost upon the coalman. "My wee man," he replied, at the same time patting the clergyman on the shoulder with a very dirty hand, "neither could I understand it when I was your size."

There was no rejoinder, and the clergyman passed on.

LOWELL IS ALL RIGHT

But Visitor Interviewed by Reporter Had Some Suggestions To Offer

Did you ever wonder what the folks from the towns and villages near Lowell think of our city? What it is they like about us and what things they don't really approve of?

Of course we know that the little old Spindle City is just about the nicest burg from Boston to Frisco, and we're always willing to tell the world so, too. But what do they think? Do they believe, as we do, that Lowell has been rightly named "The City of Opportunity," or do they think our city is in need of improvement?

We thought about this today—you know, even reporters think occasionally—and as we were groping through our alleged think tank for the answer along came a man from—well, never mind the name of the town. It's a nice little village within 25 miles of the city, and its residents have been noted for their powers of observation for years and years.

And so we put it directly up to the Old Timer. And he obligingly clucked to old Dobbin, lighted his pipe and told us what was what.

"It's a fine city in some ways," said he. "Then again, in some ways it isn't. I always enjoy looking at the window displays in the stores. They remind me of the time I went down to Boston. I had a great time looking in the store windows there. Didn't spend much money, you understand but I had a good time. Got to hand it to the Lowell storekeepers, they're up and coming all the time. If you ask me, these Boston folks have nothing on you."

"Then there's that funny little gun they have on the trolley cars here. That always tickles me. You put in a dime and they snap it right away from you. Queer how they do it, isn't it?"

"I like to watch the constable at this place you call Merrimack square. Traffic cops, I guess they call 'em. I should think they'd get so dizzy trying to straighten out all those people, horses, autos and street cars they wouldn't be able to stand up. But they don't. Funny, ain't it?"

"Then there's that big pile of iron lying in a field off Kirk street. They do say that that will be a high school some day. But I don't know. Looks kind of dubious to me."

"You have lots of canals in this city. Some of them run right under the floors of the buildings. I'd hate to live in a place over a canal. What if the floors broke through? And I can't swim, either."

"Went up to your city hall today. That is, I went up near it. I guess the mayor wasn't in. Couldn't hear him talking, anyway. Nice man, the mayor. He'd got a fine voice. I took a look at that list of Cardinal O'Connor's near the city hall. Why don't they tear down all the old buildings there and make the place more attractive. That would be a good stunt some to me. Make things more up-to-date and a heap sicker prettier."

"I went up to the new Community Service club on Dutton street today. Mighty fine place, too. Seems funny, though, to see men smoking and playing pool and billiards in a church. I wonder what some of the old timers would think of it if they knew. But

It's a mighty fine place. Lowell ought to be proud of it—and her boys who went away to finish up the Kaiser too.

"I got held up for over a quarter of an hour at the railroad crossing on my way to town today. Lots of people got held up. Why don't they get rid of those grade crossings? They don't have any back home."

"Noticed that they're fixing up the bridge over Thordike street today. They tell me they built all the cement piers underneath while people kept walking right over it. What do you think about that? Just turned the cement through small holes cut in the bridge. Pretty cute, I think."

"Always remember the first time I came to Lowell. Wanted to get to the depot, and the man at the square said to take a car marked Westford street. Well, after I'd rode quite a spell I thought I'd ask the conductor if we were nearly there. He told me we were over a mile beyond it. Rode back looking for the depot and the conductor says, 'All right, mister, here you are. There's the depot down there in the hole.'"

"Speaking of the depot reminds me of that place you call the Casino. Had some swell time there last fall, let me tell you. On to the board of trade banquet it was and they had some of the nicest vittals I ever set down to. And people—why, there were more people eating at that banquet than there is in our whole town."

"Always like to look at your jail. Never went through it, but I'm going to some day. Wouldn't like to live there permanently though. Must be like being shut up in an animal's cage with a keeper always watching you. No, I wouldn't care to live there."

"Had my dinner at one of those Chinese places on Central Street today. Ordered some of that chop suey stuff, but Mirandy's boiled dinners has got it beat a mile. Another thing I didn't like was the way the bridge outside that restaurant kept creaking and shaking every time a big team went over it. What if a team should drop through? Made me feel shaky just listening to it."

"Took in the movies this afternoon, and say, I was glad Mirandy wasn't there. She wouldn't have stood for it no air, not for a minute. 'Course she's got old fashioned ideas. I saw this Theda Bara in some kind of a picture, and believe me, young feller, the next time she comes to town I'll be here."

"They don't sell beer here any more, I see. What are the Lowell folks going to do. Beer's a good, healthy drink. Well, I've got some good old elderberry wine down cellar, and I know where to get some more. Us folks in the country ain't so far behind the times after all."

"These fire engines now, they make me laugh. Of course they're great things. And they go like the dickens. But what do they need to blow a whistle for when they're coming down the road? They make so much noise a fellow can hear 'em coming before he sees them."

"They tell me Lowell folks are all set up about the high cost of living. But look at the bargains in the department store cellars—basements, they call 'em. All kinds of bargains. Mirandy spent almost $2 the last time we came to town, and she figures she won't have to come again for a long time."

"Awfully nice clerks they have in the stores too. Polite little girls, and nice sociable ways. A fellow just couldn't help buying something, even if he didn't want to in the first place."

"But I should think it would make people lazy shopping in these big stores. Nobody walks upstairs because they always tell you to take the elevators."

"Saw the chief of police driving by in his auto today. Say, he's a big man, isn't he? I'd hate to meet up with him if I committed a crime. There can't be many crooks in this city, with a big man like that to keep an eye on them. He must have a wallop like this here Dempsey fellow."

"These street sprinklers make a hit with me. Don't have any back home, but if I ever get to be selectman I'm going to see what can be done. They seem to keep the streets cool and clean all the time. Only thing puzzles me is how the man that works the squatter can keep from wetting the people. He must have good eye sight."

"Yes, Lowell's a pretty good city, in some ways. And some ways it ain't. But it's getting better every day. I think Mirandy says that its sinful the short skirts the girls wear nowadays, but then as I said before, Mirandy's old fashioned."

And with that the Old Timer ordered Dobbin to shake his feet, and we wondered if perhaps there weren't a lot of things about Lowell we'd missed since friend Star's "shed us on the city."

I consider my preparation, put up and sold in tablet form and known as DR. GRADY'S "JUST-A-MERE" TABLET. (Trade Mark Registered), the crowning achievement of my life, knowing, as I do, the great blessings that will surely follow their use.

Cheese Instead of Steak

In many cases eating meat is more of a habit than anything else. With steak selling at 75 cents a pound it becomes an expensive habit.

Why not substitute the GORDON DAIRY COMPANY'S fresh made COTTAGE CHEESE for steak part of the time? It costs only 15 CENTS A POUND and is sold at all first class Lowell food stores where the GORDON DAIRY COMPANY sign is displayed.

There is as much nourishment in a pound of our COTTAGE CHEESE (made as mother used to make it) as there is in a pound of the average beef steak. Remember it is a LOCAL PRODUCT and made fresh every day of our creamery. Order it from your grocer or from us direct if your grocer won't get on the band wagon and help boost a good product and a home town industry.

BUILDING MORE GARAGES THAN HOUSES HERE

Lowell this year is building more garages than any other kind of structure. Data on file at the office of the building department at city hall where building permits are issued, shows that for the first six months of 1919, ending June 30, the number of permits for garages to be erected was 92. Number for corresponding period last year was 45.

Few of the so-called, "commercial garages,"--garages where repair work and auto livery is maintained, are being built this year. The city seems to be pretty well supplied with them.

Under the heading of garages it is found that mostly garages at residences are the ones being built. Generally the home owner builds a garage large enough for two cars, although he never expects to wish to support more than one car at a time. But his idea, a thrifty one, is to have space enough for two cars so that he may rent car space in his garage for six or seven dollars a month and get enough to help him buy gasoline or tires, or help pay for the garage.

Officials at city hall, when asked their ideas as to why the number of garages for which permits have been issued is double what it was last year, say they have no particular theory on the matter except that there is a lot of money among wage earners and others living in this community, and these people are going ahead and indulging themselves in the comfort and luxury of owning their own car and not necessarily a cheap car in all instances at that. There is no doubt, say these officials, but that a lot of money earned for the past three years in the munition works is finding its way to the treasuries of the motor companies doing business in the middle west.

Asked if they believed the boom in carfare on the Bay State had anything to do with the scramble to build your own garage and own your own car, one man in the building department said he was not inclined to think so because the data on file shows people were starting to equip themselves with automobiles before the three cent raise in carfare took effect.

Healthy Bowels

Nine-tenths of human sickness, from infancy to old age, comes from stomach or bowels being out of order. Headaches, tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness stop, if you treat the stomach and bowels right and get them into working order.

PROBE PROPAGANDA

BOSTON, July 10.--At a meeting of the advisory committee of the Irish Victory fund held in the Boston City club yesterday afternoon a resolution was passed requesting congress to investigate "the propaganda which has been conducted in this country since 1914, directed against and intended to undermine American institutions, to break down American policies and to involve the United States in purely European affairs in which the United States has no interest." and it was further resolved that copies of the resolution be forwarded to all members of congress from Massachusetts.

A resolution was also passed asking that the state department furnish the United States senate and publish for the American people all diplomatic notes and correspondence to which the United States and Great Britain have both been parties within the last ten years. It was further resolved that Senators Lodge and Walsh be urged to make this request to the state department on behalf of the United States senate.

The advisory committee calls upon all of the various districts to make a report of the names of all contributors. Many of the districts in Boston and vicinity, with the consent of the advisory committee, have not made remittances, holding the cash contributed until the end of the drive, when the total amount will be transmitted to Treasurer McNamee.

WILSON MEETS WRITERS

President interviewed--Gratified at Quick Ratification by Germany

WASHINGTON, JULY 10.--President Wilson, conferring with newspaper correspondents at the White house today, indicated that he was extremely gratified that the treaty of peace had been ratified so promptly by the German National assembly.

He also indicated that he felt trade relations between Germany and the associated nations should be resumed at the earliest moment possible, for without trade Germany could not meet the reparations demanded of her.

The president thinks that troops should be maintained in Germany until the Germans have complied with all the military terms of the treaty. It was pointed out, that there were several million veteran soldiers in Germany and munitions sufficient for them to operate.

The Germans have from one to four months in which to deliver all materials.

NOT TO EXTRADITE MRS. SKEELS AT THIS TIME

TRENTON, N. J., July 10.--Gov. Runyon today declined to issue at this time a requisition on the Massachusetts authorities for the extradition of Mrs. Bessie May Wilkins (Skeels) Lundgren, a former nurse, recently acquitted at Lawrence, Mass., of poisoning a patient, Miss Florence Gay, a school teacher.

His action was based on the representations of her counsel that she was physically unfit to be brought to New Jersey for trial on an indictment returned in Hudson county, charging her with poisoning her brother, Albert J. Wilkins, of Bayonne, July 1, 1915. Mrs. Skeels would make no attempt to evade extradition, the attorney said, and would appear to answer to the indictments when her health improved.

Famo Must Grow Hair or Money is Returned

FAMO is sold by the druggist on a positive money-back basis.

Unless you are absolutely satisfied with FAMO, you may return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money.

But we know you will not have to take advantage of this offer. The results achieved by FAMO are so wonderful that every purchaser is more than satisfied.

FAMO destroys the dandruff bacilli. It stops all scalp itching. It checks the deadly seborrheic excretion which causes dandruff and makes the hair and scalp healthy.

There has never been anything like the way FAMO nourishes the hair. Even where baldness has appeared, FAMO will encourage and stimulate a growth of new hair--unless the roots are absolutely dead.

New, luxuriant hair appears when FAMO is used regularly.

When FAMO is used, the seborrheic microbe dies. The dandruff disappears.

Nature has its way. The hair flourishes as it never did before. Grayness is retarded because FAMO contains no alcohol.

The persistent use of alcohol on the head causes grayness and falling hair.

When you use FAMO you can see the difference almost from the first application.

The natural color is intensified--the hair has a new lustre and sheen.

The hair grows like the hair of a healthy child.

The scalp is as clean as a baby's--the hair luxuriant and soft.

FAMO is the result of three years of careful experimentation in the laboratories of one of the oldest pharmaceutical houses in Detroit.

Before it was offered to the public, it had been tried and tested and had proven the wonderful results it accomplishes.

FAMO is the answer of scientists to the ravages of the seborrheic bacilli which cause unhealthy hair. Even if dandruff has not made its appearance, you should use FAMO to keep the scalp and hair healthy and make the hair fluffy and beautiful.

FAMO comes in two sizes--39 cents and an extra large bottle at $1.00.

It is sold at all toilet goods counters.

Seborrhea is a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrheic excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

REPLY FROM AUSTRIA

Willing To Be Satisfied With Role of Participating Member of League

PARIS, Wednesday, July 10.—Austrian reply to the League of Nations and an expression of willingness to be satisfied with the role of a participating member in that organization, and to enjoy its protection, was expressed in the Austrian reply to the allied peace terms, made public here today. The reply was dated at Vienna, June 23, in the form of a communication from Chancellor Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, to President Wilson, president of the peace conference.

The reply says that the League of Nations is a new and important step in the history of mankind, and that Austria will take a part in the participation of creating the League, but will be glad of its protection, without taking an important part in the rights and obligations attached to membership in the League.

The note says that Austria has been charged with responsibility for the war without any fault of its own. The principles upon which the new nation are founded are set forth as essentially democratic. Essentially, the note continues, the nation is founded on the two principal classes, working men and peasants, who under the old regime were in a state of abject poverty, and who now are in the direction of the state and could never have become their political aims.

be the first time a president has presented a treaty in person and the first time a message of presentation has been received with the senate's doors open to the public.

By common consent, the senate is expected again to violate its practices of more than a century and order the treaty printed immediately for public circulation.

Whether it will go further and invite the president to make a more detailed explanation before the foreign relations committee was a question warmly debated in informal conferences today. The White House announcement yesterday, that President Wilson was eager to make such an appearance was variously interpreted. It was said a decision might be reached soon after the committee takes up the treaty next week.

To Order Treaty Printed

At today's session it was planned only to hear the president's address, refer the treaty to the committee and order it printed. Adjournment then was to be taken until Monday, when the debate on ratification will begin. This debate, lasting perhaps, for many weeks, also is expected to hold with open doors, and in the opinion of some senators the committee is likely to admit the public when it questions Secretary Lansing and other members of the peace delegation.

Proceeded in the capital by the five senior members of the foreign relations committee, the president was to arrive at 12.15, fifteen minutes after the senate met, and begin his address at once. The committee members, headed by Chairman Lodge, a league opponent, arranged to go to the White House at 11 o'clock and to have a brief talk with President Wilson before the departure for the senate chamber. Admission to the senate gallery was to be by card only, each senator having been allotted six tickets. The house had adjourned until 2 o'clock so that members could hear the president.

Both Sides Confident

The senate situation confronting the president was one of many possibilities, variously estimated by the league for and against the League of Nations. With every senator present or paired when the final ratification vote will be taken, the treaty with its league amendment must receive a two-thirds majority—61 votes. This tally, the president's supporters believe, is assured while the opposition leaders as are it can never be attained without the inclusion of a few senators who are not ratification supporters.

The first step will be to make the attempt to bring in the league reservation. For this purpose the League of Nations of only a single majority—51 votes—will be required.

Reconciliation for Changes

The plan of a reconciliation between the two sides is that the league reservation and at least eight amendments will be against and rejected, and will violate the principle of the league, and any amendment that would violate this principle will be rejected. This is a principle that the league reservation will be rejected, and any amendment that would violate this principle will be rejected.

City Council

tion from Commissioner Donnelly stating that the instructions of the city council of June 17 to prepare a supplementary budget to provide for 15 per cent wage increase for various city employees had been carried out and that the total of the budget necessary for such increases was $15,100. This would have to be met by this year's revenue. For every $15.00 that is voted, 10 cents will be added to the tax rate. Appropriation orders for other purposes would have to be considered separately.

Mayor Thompson said that if the council voted to adopt the budget, the money appropriated for each department would go to the head of the department to be distributed, according to the charter as he saw fit, but he emphasized the fact that it was the intention of the council to use the money for a general 15 per cent advance for employees.

The order was then passed unanimously, the total amount being $15,100.

Charles Donnelly called for a vote on the supplementary budget. The vote was 15 to 12 in favor of the budget.

Commissioner Murphy said that the $15,000 voted the street department would enable him to provide a wage increase but that he must have $25,000 more for street maintenance or else the time would come when he would have to lay off his men. Mayor Thompson explained that the present budget was to take care merely of wage increases and that other orders would be considered later.

Following the passage of the order the council voted to raise the amount needed by taxation this year.

$20,000 for Sewers

Commissioner Murphy asked that the council once more consider his order to borrow $20,000 for sewer construction. Mayor Thompson said that before any action was taken he should like to read a letter received by Commissioner Marchand from Henry I. Bourke, architect of the proposed addition to the More school, relative to the revision of estimates for the construction of the building. He read as follows:

Hon. George E. Marchand, Commissioner of Public Property and Liabilities, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: With reference to your recent request that I consult with the several contractors whose estimates on the proposed addition to the More school were the lowest, and see how much of a saving could be made by omitting all the details in the present building and changing the construction of the new addition from precast construction to second class construction, I hereby submit the following:

A saving can be made the city of Lowell:

By changing the construction of the new addition from precast construction to second class construction.

Omitting all repairs, alterations and additions in the present building, which consist of the removal of the present boiler and stack heaters, the fireproofing of all floors, staircases and ceilings, the required ventilating and lighting of the present building.

The omission of reinforced concrete sub-basement for heating boilers; The installation of one tubular boiler in the basement of the new addition to heat the space for heating boiler and coal pocket to be taken from the assembly hall.

The omission of all toilets in present building for kindergarten pupils and teachers.

The omission of domestic science department, which consists of a living room, cooking room, pantry, fresh air room, storage rooms, toilets, etc.

The omission of all bells, telephones, electric and alarm bells, the fireproofing of all floors, staircases and ceilings, the required ventilating and lighting of the present building.

The omission of all blackboards, frames, etc., and all repairs and carpenter work, plastering, plumbing, heating wiring, etc., in the present building.

The following changes are to be made in the new addition by changing the precast construction to second class construction: (1) The present boiler and stack heaters, the fireproofing of all floors, staircases and ceilings, the required ventilating and lighting of the present building.

Word partitions to be used instead of precast partitions; Metal stairs in place of iron stairs. There are three units in the building.

added to the $45,375 makes a reduction over all of $18,057.

The original bid for carpentry was $34,700. Extra work occasioned by the change, would figure $35,027, making a total of $69,727.

Mayor Thompson commented on the communication as follows: "That means that Commissioner Marchand will have to have about $100,000 more to carry on the work and our financial condition doesn't permit us to borrow such a sum. I'd rather not put up a building there if it means that after it is constructed we'll regret that a little more money hadn't been expended. The revised estimates call for no work on the old building and it seems to me that the matter will have to be put in abeyance until there is a further revision or until such time as the city can see its way clear to build a proper school. In the meantime perhaps the commissioner may be able to confer with the school committee regarding the erection of more portable schools."

No action was taken, meaning that the project has been virtually postponed for another year.

The mayor then came back to Commissioner Murphy's letter order for $25,000 for sewers and $10,000 for gasometers. He stated that no such amount could be borrowed this year. He asked the commissioner if he couldn't get by in $25,000 for sewers and use the other $10,000 for street work. Commissioner Murphy replied that he "couldn't get by."

He added that the contentious hospital sewer is costing up two-thirds of the sewer appropriation and that there are still three more weeks to work on it before its completion.

The mayor said that up to the present time Commissioner Murphy had appropriated $75,000 for sewers and $25,000 for gasometers. He would have $100,000 an unusually large amount for the work.

Commissioner Marchand stated that the sewer project was that there would be a double of revenue coming from the city. He asked the mayor if he would where there would be any revenue from it.

New York Chorus girls in "Gaieties of Paris" keep cool in the good old summer time—Billy Wagner is a fan and the cream cone, and Helen Starn.

KEEP COOL TO KEEP WELL—so you can enjoy the summer.

DR. BLUE ADVISES YOU

BY DR. RUPERT BLUE, Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service.

It is usually not difficult to keep cool in hot weather. A thin muslin shirt and a duster are really all that are needed. The thick flannel bands the women wear, stockings and cap even all be omitted. Naturally the mother should use judgment and see that baby is kept sufficiently warm when the air becomes cooler.

General body baths a day during the hot spell will do much to keep baby cool and healthy.

But when the weather should learn how to keep cool in summer. Suitable light clothing is important. The degrees of heat on the body give way to the degrees of coolness. Men would do well to keep their women and not hesitate to keep their own waists. Light-colored clothing is, of course, cooler than dark-colored, and cotton or linen cooler than woolen.

The question of diet is very important. Just as an engineer keeps his fire low when there is no call for heat, so a sensible person will reduce the amount of food in his daily diet. This is a simple thing to do in summer for an abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables are available from which to make excellent, tasty meals. Moreover the use of such foods is decidedly beneficial, for they supply important elements such as mineral salts and vitamins required by the body. So far as protein is concerned, crackers and milk are excellent sources of this important element of food.

A word of caution regarding drinking. The drinking of large amounts of fluid throws extra work on the body, especially on the kidneys and the skin. It is just as easy to quench the thirst

IN HOT WEATHER

Cut down meats. Eat fruits, vegetables, crackers and milk. Discard the coat. Don't over drink any fluids, including water. Cut out alcohol. Bathe frequently in tepid water. Keep the mind cool. Don't fuss. Don't worry. Don't rush.

with smaller amounts of fluid, provided one does not take large gulps. Alcoholic beverages should be avoided as they only increase the discomfort. While much has been said about the danger of putting ice directly into drinking water, the danger has been much exaggerated. If the ice has been washed off before being placed in the water little harm need be feared. While approving, therefore, of the use of ice water, still caution should be exercised against the drinking of excessive quantities.

For those fortunate enough to have an electric fan available the plan may be suggested of having this placed so that it blows current of air under the bed. This appears to be decidedly helpful in making for comfortable sleep.

When possible do your strenuous work in the early morning and late evening when it is cooler.

If you have much walking to do take it quietly and find the shady side of the street. Keep the mind as well as the body cool. Don't worry. Don't fuss. Keep serene.

Bathe frequently in tepid water. An excellent shower bath may be substituted.

LOWELL GETS AMERICAN LEGION CHARTER

A charter for a Lowell post of the American Legion was sent to this city yesterday by the officials of the state legion. It will be acted upon and ratified at the next meeting of the Lowell veterans. The meeting last Friday night, adjourned with the understanding that the next meeting should be called at the pleasure of the chairman and as yet no call has been sent out.

The temporary organization of Lowell veterans voted to form a Lowell post of the American Legion at last week's meeting. Three weeks ago the American Legion constitution was explained to the men by John C. Leggett and at that time they voted to take the matter under consideration. This was done and the vote to join came last week. As the American Legion seems to be the only national bona fide organization of world war veterans in the country, it is confidently believed that practically every service man in this city will join the Lowell post.

SWITZERLAND LEADER SUPPORTS LEAGUE

BERNE, Wednesday, July 9.—Dr. Felix Calender, former president and head of the political department of the Swiss government, speaking at a conference with the press on the League of Nations today, said he was convinced that the non-adhesion of Switzerland to the league and her consequent political isolation would be a great error.

"The league founded at Paris," he said, "is imperfect and should be amended but, nevertheless, it constitutes a work that commands respect and has an appeal as tending to facilitate the progress of humanity."

R-34 on Way Home

Long Island, the dirigible passed over New York City, circled over the Times Building tower at 12:45, remained in sight of a dense Broadway crowd for five minutes before heading south over lower Manhattan and disappeared in an easterly direction.

For more than an hour the naval communications office sent wireless reports of weather conditions at sea to the R-34, and the wireless stations at the Mineola flying fields were in communication with her until near 1 a. m. when the R-34 radio operator requested that further weather reports be sent from the Far Harbor radio station.

Announcement Crowded

Announcement by Major G. H. Scott, commander of the R-34 of his intention to sail over the city was made in theatres and restaurants, with the result that thousands of persons crowded in Broadway for a glimpse of the airship as she passed through the streets of light and sound skyward from scores of searchlights. She flew quite low over Broadway, not being much over 200 feet in the air and proceeding at low speed.

News that the dirigible had left Roosevelt field at Mineola spread rapidly throughout the greater city and while Broadway enjoyed the best view of the airship, it was plainly discernible from open spaces and the roofs of buildings throughout the lower section of the city. The gigantic Sperry gyroscope in Brooklyn and searchlights with penetrating power kept the big gas bag in view until she passed out of range.

Well Out to Sea

"Well out to sea" was the last message from the R-34 picked up by the police headquarters at 2:15 a. m. almost an hour after Major Scott had fulfilled his promise to pilot his ship over New York.

The decision to make the start was reached early last evening when Major Scott received a warning from the United States weather bureau that the strong southwest winds might continue for another day and endanger the bag on the exposed plain of Roosevelt field. The crew was hastily summoned, gas was taken on and final preparations for the homeward flight were completed in record time. Major Scott said just before the start that he expected to encounter light west winds on the first part of the homeward voyage, but later favorable winds. After the ship reached mid-ocean he said the speed should be increased from 45 to 70 miles an hour.

The following messages were received from the R-34 today by the naval communications office:

2:45 a. m.—Everything O. K. Bound for England.
3 a. m.—Speed 19 knots. Going well. Everything O. K.
3:45 a. m.—Signals unreadable due to rapid increase of distance and speed and atmospheric state.

It took the R-34 about three minutes to rise to the height at which she began cruising.

Brig.-Gen. Lionel Charlton, British aviation attaché in the United States, said that the ship would employ only the three engines on which she started unless unexpected conditions arose.

Will Sail Over London

With favorable conditions Maj. G. H. Scott, her commander, hopes to make the voyage in 70 hours, sailing over London before proceeding to East Fortune, Scotland. If weather conditions permit.

Fine, healthy skin for every member of the family

FROM the kiddie up to daddy.
To have clear, radiant, healthy skin, health authorities have been urging the value of washing properly. They know how important it is to keep the skin protected—more than just clean.

Every minute of the day the moisture on your skin is gathering dust and dirt from the air. This settles deep in the pores; makes the skin lifeless, unhealthy. And ordinary washing doesn't really cleanse the skin; it merely removes the surface dirt.

To have that fine, healthy color you have so often admired in others, the soap you use must benefit and protect the skin, as well as cleanse!

When you wash with Lifebuoy Health Soap, you do more than cleanse. Its big, bubbling lather carries a mild, healthful antiseptic right down into the pores. It leaves the skin protected and refreshed. You notice that your complexion grows fresher, clearer and healthier every day.

The pure, clean odor tells you why

The first whiff tells you instantly why Lifebuoy cleanses so thoroughly—why it benefits and improves the skin.

Try Lifebuoy for yourself and for the rest of your family. Use it regularly for the face, hands and bath. Wash the youngsters with it when they come in hot and dirty from their play and give it to your husband to wash up with after his day's work. Watch the improvement in all your skins! Get a cake at any grocery, drug or department store.—Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Looping the Loop—The Four Solares Acrobats

DANCING EVERY DAY

passed out of Roosevelt field the moon appeared from behind black clouds partially lighting up the dark field. A few raindrops pattered down.

At 12:01 lights along the deck of the dirigible, which runs virtually the entire length of the envelope inside, were switched on and the great ship herself appeared a long streak of light swimming in the radiance of the searchlights.

Up to 12:01 the R-34 had drifted sideways in the current of a southwest wind. At this hour she nosed into the wind, sailed about 500 feet and about one minute later disappeared from the view of the crowds at Roosevelt field.

ON Martha's Vineyard

BOSTON, July 10.—The British dirigible R-34 was reported 55 miles south of Martha's Vineyard at 1 a. m. in a radio message received here.

Martha's Vineyard is off the southern coast of Massachusetts.

Stowaway Goes on Steamer

ROOSEVELT FIELD, Mineola, N. Y., July 10.—Ballantyne, the now noted stowaway, will not be permitted to recross the Atlantic on the ship that he so dearly loves, but will be sent home on a steamer. It is believed that he will not be severely punished for his escapade, but will probably be "let off" with a reprimand.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"The Great Romance," with Harold Lockwood appearing in the leading role, will be one of the chief attractions at the Strand beginning with matinee today. It is an imaginative romance, dealing with the unusual and exciting happenings which occur when a young American finds himself the heir to a small European throne. The idea does not appeal to him at first but when he discovers that it involves the happiness of the girl he loves, he readily accepts. What his lot is thereafter is better told by the picture itself.

Suffice it to say that he meets up with many thrilling adventures, some of which seriously threaten his downfall. Of course he wins in the end, but not until he has overcome many obstacles. There is good romance, some comedy and many thrills that combine in making it thoroughly enjoyable. Mr. Lockwood appears as the young American and finds the role suitable to his unusual talent as a screen star. He receives the support of a noted cast.

"The Amateur Adventuress" is a breezy comedy-drama in six parts. It gives Emmy Wehlen, the exquisite star of the screen, a role of unusual originality and charm. She is seen as the girl who tires of her monotonous existence and determines to seek the adventure which she craves. Two things are necessary, however, clothes and money, neither of which she possesses. How she eventually gets both, and what she encounters in her quest for excitement is cleverly shown in this brilliant and amusing comedy. The play has romance and love in good measure.

The latest comedy and a new Universal Weekly, together with new song numbers by Miss Rita B. Thompson, are other notable contributions to the week end treat. And remember the Strand is the "hottest spot in town." The pony contest is arousing added interest each succeeding day. Who will the leader be next week?

LAKEVIEW PARK

The Four Solares, two men and two women, are the greatest live attraction of this entire city. The crowds are saying: "The yappers twice a day on the big open-air platform. Dancing, too, is always enjoyable, when either Boy's 13 musical experts open up and Danny Moran comes. Try it."

COMMONS AMENDS
FINANCE BILL

LONDON, Wednesday, July 9.—The house of commons today adopted an amendment to the finance bill, moved by J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, giving the government power by an order in council to extend colonial preference for any territory under the League of Nations. The vote was 125 to 55.

During the debate James Myles, Liberal, contended that this policy would sow dissension among the nations because the covenant of the League of Nations provided equal trade and commercial opportunities in those territories. He asked whether if the United States should be given the mandate for Constantinople, the other members of the league would be able, as regards that city, to have the same financial system.

Sir Donald Maclean also protested against the amendment. But Sir Austen Chamberlain, minister for national affairs and reconstructions, replied that what the government would be empowered to do would not be contrary to anything in the covenant.

275 ALPINISTS KILLED BOLSHIEVIK RUNNING SINCE END OF WAR

GENEVA, July 10.—Since the end of hostilities 275 alpinists have been killed in the Central Alps. The fatalities have been unusually heavy considering the restrictions still placed on mountain climbing. During the present year there have been 26 ascents of Mont Blanc, chiefly by American and British officers.

GENEVA, Wednesday, July 9.—The police have discovered that the Bolshieviki have been operating a counterfeiting plant at Zurich. A number of arrests have been made. Among the prisoners is a German named Brogmann, who is said to be the ring leader. Notes, large quantities of which were American and English, were seized, their apparent face value being several million pounds sterling.

POPE APPOINTS DOMESTIC PRELATES

He has bestowed upon Dr. Mari Fida Suetz, president of Colombia, the Grand Cross of the Order of Pius. It is the highest civil decoration within gift of the papacy. The Grand Cross of the Order of St. Gregory the Great has been awarded to Emmanuel Goltz, former minister of Colombia to the Vatican. The rank of commander in the Order of St. Gregory the Great has been bestowed upon Police Deharos Cavalcanti and Professor Napoleo De Paiva, both of Rio Janeiro, and Salvatore De Granada of Nicaragua.

lial except that sufficient for the reduced German Army provided for in the peace treaty and the president believes American troops should stay on the Rhine until the material is delivered.

Covenant in all Treaties

The president let it be known that the League of Nations covenant would be in every treaty negotiated at Versailles, including that with Bulgaria, with which country the United States never was at war.

In response to questions regarding the Finns situation, he pointed out that the Treaty of London provided that Finns should go to Croatia, and that Italy did not lay claim to the city when that treaty was signed.

The president made it clear that demobilization of the American army would depend upon the speed with which the military conditions of the peace treaty were executed by Germany and the treaty was ratified by the various governments.

He feels that the United States must play a generous part in the reconstruction of Europe, but he believes this should be accomplished by establishing some sound basis of credit, rather than by direct government aid.

Talks on Ratifications

President Wilson is understood to take the position that a two-thirds majority will be required to adopt any senate reservations in ratifying the peace treaty the impression of opposition leaders in the senate has been that only a simple majority would be required.

He let it be known to the correspondents that the treaty with France was designed for the protection of France until such time as this special guarantee would no longer be needed because of the protection to be afforded all nations by the League of Nations.

American Aid to France

He has the impression that the French people would be cut in the heart if the United States should fail to approve the special treaty. He does not believe there would be any difficulty in recognizing such an act of aggression by Germany as not of assistance American aid to France under the pact.

The president is said to take the position that while there is a slight difference in wording between the new treaty with France and the similar treaty between Great Britain and France, there is no difference in meaning. It is said he believes that the obligations imposed upon the United States and Great Britain are identical.

It is understood that he does not regard these treaties as forming an alliance in the general acceptance of the term. He is represented as conceiving them to be only instrumentalities further to protect France while the permanent plans of the League of Nations council are being worked out.

EBERT SIGNS RATIFICATION

German President Approves Bill Ratifying Treaty of Peace

Peace Conference Officially Notified of Ratification by Assembly

BERLIN, Wednesday, July 9. (By the Associated Press.)—President Ebert signed the bill ratifying the peace treaty here at 3 o'clock tonight, according to the Verwaert, and the document has been despatched to Versailles.

Notified of Ratification
VERSAILLES, July 10.—Official notification of the ratification of the peace treaty by the German National Assembly was given to the peace conference today. The notification was presented at 11 a. m. by Baron Kert von Lesseur, head of the German peace mission here to Col. Henry, French Union officer at Versailles.

Assembly for Speedy Action
WEIMAR, July 10. (By the Associated Press.)—The German national assembly plainly demonstrated yesterday that it wanted to complete the peace treaty quickly and without obscuring the measure in any way with qualifying resolutions.

The conservatives introduced a resolution which would make ratification dependent upon the judgment of recognized authorities in international law as to whether the proposed international court could institute trial and could, with retroactive authority, impose penalties which had not heretofore been prescribed in international law. The resolution was aimed at the enforcement of articles 227 to 230, inclusive, of the treaty of the former emperor and Germans accused of causing the war or of violations of the rules of war. It also provided for the establishment of a neutral court to pass upon the question of responsibility for the conflict.

The conservatives' resolution was decisively defeated.

TO DISCONTINUE TWO CAR LINES

"Bay State" Trustees To Pull Up Tracks if Cities and Towns Refuse Aid

Agree Complaints Against Sharing Expenses of Non-Paying Lines Well Founded

BOSTON, July 10.—The Georgetown, Rowley and Ipswich and New Bedford Middleboro and Brockton branches of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. will discontinue service Sept. 1 unless the communities served by these lines extend financial aid. Notices to this effect were served today upon town and city officials by the public trustees of the railway under the provisions of a special act of the legislature of 1915. The two lines include about 55 miles of rail.

The railway trustees say they do not believe either of the branches can be included fairly in any of the adjoining districts of the system, and they feel that the complaint of many communities that they should not be made to carry the financial load of non-paying lines, with which they have nothing directly in common, is a well founded one.

It is announced that the discontinuance of service on other unprofitable lines is being considered by the trustees.

evidently feeling that Haverhill and Portland as now constituted are strong enough without getting additional players.

From the standpoint of attendance at the games the league has had a tough time this year. It is said that Portland has a $2500 loser, while Lewiston has a deficit of $1400. Lowell and Lawrence are deep down in the financial hole, but Haverhill is breaking even and Fitchburg is ahead of the game. The ranks of the faithful have grown thinner and thinner and the quarters jingled into the till with less and less merry frequency and the whole business slumped. If all the playing days were anniversaries of the birth of independence the league would prosper, but unfortunately that glorious event comes but once a year.

Everything pointed to a comfortable journey along the road which leads to success before the season started. In Lowell this was particularly true. The city had been without baseball for two years and looked ready for a good, hearty meal. Short was due for a terrific boom with the breaking up of the big league across the pond, and although baseball was not common talk on the streets it was felt that the fans would fall in line just as soon as the schedule commenced to operate.

At the outset the teams generally were poor in point of material and the managers and owners soon found that it could never do to foist Cines N. Hall on city people. So the recruits and semi-pros left and real ball players came in their stead. Portland, Lewiston, Fitchburg, Lowell and Lawrence formed good, fast teams and with the coming of Burckett to Haverhill the league's weak sister became a sure-enough contender and still looks to be "rearing to go."

But the old interest waned, in fact, it never showed itself in alarming proportions and the league had been under way hardly two weeks before disturbing rumors of a breakdown were heard in the distance. The team owners took it with a smile, however, and it was not until the occurrence of the Lewiston bomb plot that real fears were entertained for the safety and continued life of the organization.

For all this, the league may weather the storm and get into clear water again. If it does crack and Lowell and Lawrence fall by the wayside it will mean the end of league baseball in this city, at least, for some moons, for there is no man on the horizon today who possesses the courage and money to take another fling at such an unstable proposition. It will be too bad to see the league go to glory for the baseball metered out in Lowell has been universally good.

The Portland Press comments upon the Lewiston mixup as follows: "Bolshevik days have come upon the New England league. Fred Parent struck because the Lewiston team wouldn't pay him $100 a week and then Lenine Carigan and Trotsky Gray hoisted the red flag because Portland has been winning all the games. Last night we heard Dutch Benford had struck because he had been taken out of the game by the capitalistic management of the Lowell team."

Poor Old Jack Donnelly of the league to enforce peace went up to Lewiston to lead a counter attack against the Reds of that city and the report from there was that he had assumed command for the time being. Donnelly, of Bolshevik propaganda in Lawrence and Lowell are also reported, and it is said that the Soviets might assume control in these cities at any time.

"What will happen in the future there is no predicting. Leagues had weathered worse storms than this and the most energetic propagandists must admit that President Donnelly is a good and persistent fighter and one not easily discouraged."

The Lewiston Journal makes charges of syndicate baseball and says that Pres. Donnelly owns Portland and a good share of Lowell and Haverhill. It also opines that transferring clubs to Worcester and Greenfield won't help the league any. Pres. Donnelly says he has lent money to Haverhill and Lawrence, having kicked in with $12500 in the former city. The Haverhill players threatened to strike a week ago because they were not paid, but Donnelly went to Haverhill and dug up a business man who promised

LENS IS SHOWING SIGNS OF REVIVAL

PARIS. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Lens, the most thoroughly devastated town of the war, is showing signs of revival. When the Associated Press correspondent visited this erstwhile busy coal mining center of the department of the Pas de Calais early this year, it still looked as though a set of giant sledge-hammers had pounded the whole place to atoms. To the west of it lies the grim battlefield of Loos, which has the curious appearance of a petrified sea. The soil has been plowed up in an extraordinary manner by thousands of poisonous gas bombs, which have tinged the sparse vegetation an unhealthy gray.

Before the war, Lens had 30,000 inhabitants. When the correspondent visited the locality in its state of hopeless desolation, there were only three sturdy optimists left, who led a cave men's existence among the ruins. Their nearest point to get food was Bully-Grenay, ten miles away, and there was no transportation.

Things have been mending since. Today, about 3000 of the exiled inhabitants have returned. They are housed in corrugated iron huts formerly used by the British army. The cleaning up of the place, begun by Chinese and German prisoner work squads, is taking on more speed. The approaches have been laid bare to cellars and underground shelters which have been occupied by homeless "househunters." Even building of a sort is going on; the material used being such odd bits of wood, stone and iron as were still serviceable in the huge rubbish heap that once was Lens.

In the Pas de Calais department alone, 150 township and villages are in the same plight as Lens, or nearly so. The task of making these places fit to live in again is a herculean one. Labor is available in adequate numbers, but to lodge and feed the men is a great problem. The latest suggestion is to use covered army motor trucks as temporary shelters for the workers by whose efforts Lens is to arise from its ashes.

SOME HINTS ON THE VICTORY GARDEN

Now that the hot dry weather is with us there are certain garden practices that should be followed if one is to obtain the maximum production from his garden.

A thorough cultivation of the whole garden at least once a week—better twice a week if you have time—is perhaps the best solution of the problem. One need not cultivate deeply, but just enough to keep an inch or two of the surface soil loosened up. Such a practice conserves the soil moisture to a marked degree and is the best method known to prevent weed growth.

Don't think you have got to water your garden every night in order to produce results. Keeping the surface soil loosened up in good shape does more good than a ten minute sprinkling with the hose. If your garden needs water, soak it thoroughly until the soil becomes muddy, then

ADMIRAL SIMS DECORATED

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, was decorated with the rank and cross of a grand officer of the legion of honor today at the navy department. Admiral Henry T. Mayo and Wm. B. Wilson already held this honor.

Lieutenant Commander James G. Ware, who commanded the American destroyer Truxton, which engaged in a battle with the German submarine U-56 near Brest, was made a chevalier of the legion of honor.

stir up a good much as soon as it dries out enough. The most destructive pests we have to look out for at this period are the potato bugs, squash bugs and cucumber beetles. Spray the potatoes every two weeks with a Bordeaux-lead spray. Remember to use the manufacturer's directions and insecticides three times as strong as the manufacturer recommends.

Spray the cucumber and squash vines every week or ten days. The Bordeaux-lead spray is about as good a spray for these pests as you can get. If squash bugs are very troublesome a get rid of them by trapping. Place a piece of shingle on the ground near the root. The squash bugs will hide beneath it at night and can be collected in the morning. Moth balls are also a good repellent for squash bugs. Place one or two in each hill.

It isn't too late yet to put in another planting of shell or string beans, lettuce, kohlrabi, turnip, cauliflower or late cabbage plants.

Watch out for plant lice now. It is during the hot weather that they increase so rapidly. It is a good plan to inspect your potato and tomato vines every day if possible. And then when you do find them don't wait until they cover the vines.

Jason Bailey, one of the R.F.D. carriers from the Montpelier postoffice, explained to inquirers that the noise issuing from his mail-pouch was made by a pig about four weeks old which he was to deliver to a man living two miles from Montpelier.
